Not So Bad for S. O. of N. Y.

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1929, King Features Synd., Inc.

CONGRESSMAN BRITTEN, chairman of the House naval committee, calls Mr. Gibson's talk at Geneva about arms reduction "another naval victory for British diplomacy" and "a complete surrender by the United States."

Fortunately there are Americans in Congress. They may have something to say about that complete surrender before it is made official.

The waiting chauffeur will be freed from boredom and the family automobile trip made even more cheerful than usual.

Capt. Rickenbacker sends news of a substantial corporation formed to install the "Travel-tone," a full-fledged radio, in every automobile.

You may travel from the Atlantic to the Pacific, hearing the President's speeches on the way, with baseball news and stock ticker quotations in between.

Whatever man can suggest, he can do.

Twenty years ago, on the New York Stock Exchange, somebody bought 65,000 shares of United States Steel stock in one lump. Perhaps it was Frank Munsey. He knew enough to buy Steel when it was cheap.

That record was broken yesterday when somebody bought 100,000 shares of Simms Petroleum. Others bought 236,000 shares more. The Street says "somebody must know something."

Times are bad in the oil business, but not apparently for everybody.

Standard Oil of New York last year earned $39,645,227, and has $12,064,938 left after paying dividends, an income three times as great as in the preceding year.

Henry Ford says Standard Oil is the best managed business in the world.

The American Tel. and Tel. Co. is another business successfully managed. Climbing steadily upward, its total stock exchange value is above three thousand millions of dollars, double the value of Standard Oil of New Jersey and United States Steel, but excelled by the market value of General Motors.

There are giants in THESE days.

Unable to agree on the amount of gold to be taken from Germany the "expert debt parley" falls flat.

Experts cannot even agree on a wording of their statement that the thing is a failure.

This emphasizes the fact that it is well for Uncle Sam to keep out of Europe's affairs and attend to his own business. He has plenty of it.

Rules, just issued, permit young ladies of Wellesley to smoke in Alumnae Hall, society houses, in boats on Lake Waban, private homes or residences, in fact almost everywhere.

The next rules generally doubtless will indicate the proper place for young ladies to chew tobacco.

Dr. Daniel Smith Lamb, curator of the American Medical Museum performed 1500 autopsies during his lifetime, including two on the bodies of President Garfield and Guiteau, his assassin.

Yesterday Dr. Lamb's turn came. In accordance with his will, his body was dissected. He hoped he might be useful at the last. He was 86 years old.

Germany permits all survivors of the Emden to add "Emden" to the rest of their name. Thus Friederich Gerber is Friederich Gerber Emden. The Emden destroyed 15 ships, steamers and one cruiser before an Australian cruiser ended its cruise.

On the same basis Col. Lindbergh would call himself Col. Lindbergh-Atlantic Ocean.

Every day in New York's public schools 82,000 children are absent because of illness. Ninety-eight inspectors are supposed to look after 1,200,000 pupils. There is one nurse to 5000 children.

Some day prosperous civilization will realize that there is actual cash value in intelligent children, and will find it worth while to take care of them.

Lee Light Plant Pays 62 Percent

DIVIDEND FOR POWER COMBINE

Disclosure that the Lee Electric Light Company, a private corporation, paid dividends of 62 per cent in 1928 caused a stir at the State House today as the fight on the power interests was renewed before the House and Senate Rules Committees.

This company, serving Lee, Lenox and Tyringham, has a rate of 10 cents per kilowatt hour and a service charge of 75 cents a month for small users.

This rate is twice as high as is charged by a number of publicly

Lindy Club Plans Air Meet

Attention, Boys and Girls—we have a few questions to ask you.

First have you joined the Boston Evening American Lindbergh Club? If not be sure to fill out the coupon in today's American and send it in with a penny. If you don't join you will miss many good times and treats which are in the making for members of the club. Remember, a penny pays your dues in becoming a member of this great organization, which now has more than 32,000 members from all parts of New England.

But then if you have joined the American Lindbergh Club you should read the Boston Evening American every day for news about what the club is doing and is planning to do. Of course the club was originally organized for the purpose of having the boys and girls of New England show their appreciation of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh by presenting him a wedding gift in Washington next June. And 12 New England boys and girls with their parents will make the

'BABY' WINS FIRST TILT FOR TOTS

The shattered romance of Gertrude "Baby" Hayes, Jr., song and dance girl, and Joseph H. Laffey, wealthy Boston business man, who won her heart after a hectic courtship six years ago, today resolved itself into what promises to be a bitter and lengthy court fight over custody of their two children.

Atty. Joseph F. O'Connell, for Laffey, against whom "Baby" Hayes filed suit for divorce a month ago today, appeared in Middlesex Court and filed a petition for revocation of a court order giving the former "queen of burlesque" temporary custody of the children, Bruce, three, and Gerrine, four.

The petition alleges "Baby" Hayes to be an unfit woman to have custody of the children.

Judge Beane, who granted the mother temporary custody, set June 21 as the date of hearing of

SEIZED IN RANDOLPH DRUG TRAP

After a search lasting nearly a year, Mrs. Theresa Marangi, who was acquitted of first degree murder in Boston several years ago, and Ralph Esposito were arrested today in Randolph for alleged sales of heroin on Hub street corners.

The woman's name was first given as Theresa Faruber, but federal authorities admitted later she was the defendant in the Marangi murder case of December, 1922, in which she was accused of slaying her brother-in-law, Leo Marangi.

Both she and Esposito were arrested on indictment warrants, charging sales of heroin, a highly concentrated drug whose manufacture or importation is strictly prohibited by the United States laws. According to officials, cases in

$1200 CASH STOLEN IN MAIL BAG

Three pouches of U. S. mail, containing $1200 in cash and checks of undetermined value, were stolen on April 11, 13 and 15 while "in transit" between the Watertown postoffice and the South Station either from mail cars of the Boston & Albany railroad or from the Newton station of the railroad.

This disclosure was made today by Chief Postal Inspector Park D. Colvin who, with two assistants, has been working on the thefts since their discovery April 16.

In addition to Postal Inspectors Colvin, James E. A. Sullivan and John W. Hunt, Watertown and Newton police have been engaged in the investigation without unearthing a tangible clue.

First knowledge of the thefts was obtained on April 16, when a pouch of 800 letters, assigned from the Watertown postoffice to

CLOSE BORDER; BATTLE NEAR

Nogales, Ariz., April 24 (AP)—Scores of Americans, caught on the Mexican side of the border when revolutionary officials closed the international line abruptly and without explanation about midnight, were permitted to return to American soil at 3 o'clock this morning.

The Americans were in the cafes and other amusement places of the Mexican town when the international gate was closed. Mexican authorities at first refused to permit passage of anyone into Sonora from American soil, but later allowed a young woman relative of Gen. J Gonzalo Escobar, revolutionary commander-in-chief, to re-enter Mexican territory.

Shortly afterward Gen. Francisco Borquez, commander of the Nogales garrison, announced that the bor-

Mrs. Storrow Defaults in Auto Case

"It makes no difference whether they are rich or poor. If they violate the law, bring them in."

Voicing this order in Quincy District Court today, Judge Avery issued a second summons against Mrs. Helen O. Storrow, widow of James Jackson Storrow of Beacon st., Boston, to answer to a charge of speeding.

On request of Officer "Two-Gun" Baker, a summons against Mrs. Storrow was issued a week ago and served by police of the Back Bay station. Today she failed to appear in court.

A default warrant was also issued for Miss Elizabeth M Yeamwealthy society girl of 984 Memorial drive, Cambridge. Officer Baker said she was speeding along the Southern artery at 55 miles an hour. Her failure to answer the summons brought the order from Judge Avery.

GIRL SETS AIR RECORD; LANDS

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., April 24 (INS)—After flying continuously since shortly before noon yesterday, Elinor Smith, 17-year-old aviatrix, brought her Bellanca monoplane to earth here at 2:04 p. m.

The girl flier had established a new solo endurance record for women, bettering by more than four hours the previous mark established by Mrs. Louis McPhetridge Thaden of Los Angeles.

When she landed Miss Smith had been in the air 26 hours, 21 minutes and 32 seconds. The previous record was 22 hours, three minutes and 12 seconds.

Miss Smith made a perfect land-

Hub Vet Gives Buddie Poppy to President

Washington, April 24 (INS)—President Hoover was wearing a buddie poppy today. It was presented him by Eugene P. Carver, Boston, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and pinned on his coat by Betty Boyse, small daughter of a veteran.

The poppies will be placed on sale the week preceding Memorial Day and the proceeds will be used for the care of disabled veterans and their widows.

Employes Held Up

New York, April 24 (INS)—Four armed men today held up the employes of the office of the Rubis Coal & Ice Corporation in Astoria and escaped with about $500.

Loses $2,249 in Old Game

Worcester April 24—The old "handkerchief game," explained hundreds of times in the newspapers, today cost Joseph Muha of Mendon st., Uxbridge, $2249.52, his life savings.

Muha met two men, one of whom was weeping because he feared he would be robbed of $10,000 before he could sail for Spain. He wanted a reliable man to care for the money. However, the man must put up security, so Muha journeyed to Uxbridge, drew his savings and handed them over to the Spaniard and his friend.

In return the Uxbridge man was given a handkerchief, supposed to contain $10,000, but which actually held nothing but a newspaper.

BAY RUM ORGY KILLS TWO

Worcester, April 24—Two men from New Hampshire rented a room at 29 Salem st and then engaged in a bay rum drinking orgy. On retiring they blew out the gas.

Today, from papers in their clothing, one was identified as Henry Parker, 50, former special police officer of Rochester, N. H. The other was Thomas F. White, 35, of Nashua, N. H.

Five empty bay rum bottles were on the floor.

Trieste, Italy, April 24 (AP)—The steamship Remo of the Lloyd Triestino Line, was virtually destroyed by fire today while lying in harbor after returning from Japan with a cargo of cotton and sacks.

MUST RAISE OR RETIRE 9 COPS

Disqualified today for promotion because of physical defects, nine Boston patrolmen raised a knotty problem for department heads by contending they are therefore entitled to retirement on half pay.

Thirty of the 130 successful applicants in the recent examinations for sergeant took today's physical test at the State House, and all passed but these nine, five of whom had bad teeth, three poor vision and one varicose veins.

The nine officers now claim that if physical infirmities disqualify them for promotion, the same render them eligible for retirement.

They pointed out that their physical defects must have been acquired while they were members of the department because they successfully met the physical requirements when they joined the force.

Darrow to Defend Eight of School Age

Chicago, April 24 (INS)—Clarence Darrow today announced he would defend four Chicago high school girls and four youths, charged with house-breaking at Waveyly Beach, Ind. They say they were at the beach examining cottages to rent one and entered several with no intent to violate the law. Deputy sheriffs arrested them.

Theater Sues to End Union Interference

Salem, April 24 (AP)—A bill in equity was filed in superior court today by the Capitol Amusement Company of Lawrence seeking to restrain several theatrical unions from interference with the company's theatre, which is operated by employes affiliated with the Knights of Labor. The action is returnable at Boston April 26.

BROOKHART BREAKS WITH HOOVER ON FARM BILL

Washington, April 24 (INS)—A definite break between President Hoover and part of the mid-west farm group that supported him in the campaign appeared in the Senate today. Senator Brookhart, Iowa insurgent, who campaigned for Hoover, accused him of "changing front" on the farm problem. He appealed to Congress to "solve the farm problem and pass a real bill—even over a presidential veto."

owned municipal plants in Massachusetts and is one of the highest rates in the State.

In spite of the big earnings being made and the surplus accumulated, when the rate was cut last May from 12 to 10 cents, the service charge was slapped on.

At the offices of the department of public utilities it was said there is only one stockholder, "apparently the Western Massachusetts Companies." Through its directorate the Lee company is indirectly linked with the big power combines.

50 PER CENT "EXTRA."

The 62 per cent dividend consisted of 50 per cent extra and 12 per cent regular. These figures are all on file with the department of public utilities.

Compared with this are other figures showing that the municipally-owned plant at South Hadley has reached a position of conspicuous financial success with a low consumers' rate.

The South Hadley company was organized in 1914 with a bond issue of $40,000, of which $26,000 has since been paid off, leaving only $14,000 in bonds outstanding.

Its plant, less depreciation, is valued at $139,000, equipment less depreciation, $4900; cash on hand, $50,000; accounts receivable, $9800, for a total value of approximately $205,000 on the original investment of $14,000 net.

GRAUSTEIN TO TESTIFY

"The continued industrial development of Massachusetts and New England at large depends on cheap and widely-available power," H. A. Russell, representing the Massachusetts Branch of Operating Engineers, today told the House and Senate rules committees at the resumption of the public hearing on the Hogan resolve for a general investigation of Power Trust activities.

Following attacks on the methods of the power interests by several speakers, the hearing adjourned until Monday, at which time, according to announcement today by President Gaspar G. Bacon of the Senate, President A. R. Graustein of the International Paper and Power Company will be questioned.

Russell told the members of the two committees that the engineering practices of some of the power organizations were not in conformity with the best interests of local industry.

TRUST METHODS SCORED.

"From an industrial standpoint, the situation is of tremendous importance, and I hope that the future will give it due consideration," he said.

The "dark and devious ways of the power groups in getting control of Massachusetts light companies and their industries" were scored by J. J .Murray of Dorchester, another speaker.

Murray also denounced propaganda in the schools "to instill in the young mind the idea that only a private business can do the public business."

"You are not babes in the woods," he said to the committee members. "You must know what is going on, not only here but throughout the country at large. You know what their tactics are. You wouldn't go to the North Pole to discover iceberg. You know they are there are there already.

POISON PUBLIC MIND

"The money interests are overshadowing everything here. They bought the Herald and Traveler so they could issue propaganda to sway the people's minds against public ownership."

Alfred Baker Lewis, secretary of the Socialist Party in Massachusetts, urged prompt action by the Legislature.

"Delay is dangerous, because every day the holding companies are piling on more holding companies and absorbing local companies, resulting in inflated valuations," he said.

"This process is steadily going on, making it difficult and almost impossible at times to determine real property values, original investment and reproduction figures.

"In Cambridge, my home city while they delayed a year, a management company had been added, despite the fact they had a manage high salary and that the We and Cambridge companies been absorbed. The only way t otect the public interest is to have prompt legislative action."

POWER ELECTS 9 BOSTONIANS

Nine Boston business men, who served on the directorate of the International Power & Paper Co. in 1928, were re-elected directors at the annual meeting today.

The three-hour meeting was held in the offices of the Power Co., 89 Broad st., and was attended by about 50 stockholders. Following the election, the financial standing and policies to be pursued during the year were discussed.

The nine directors re-elected are A. R. Graustein, Phillip Stockton, F. S. Simons, Frank Comerforde, Walter C. Bayliss, John R. Macomber, Daniel G. Wing and Messrs. Close and Wiggin.

which heroin figures are extremely rare.

The couple are charged with peddling the drug in the Back Bay, chiefly at Boylston st. and Massachusetts ave., early last year.

Agents reported buying heroin from them at $35 an ounce, accumulating more than 10 ounces for evidence in this way.

But when the agents raided their house on Munroe st., Somerville, they are alleged to have departed hastily through a hole cut in a wall admitting them to the adjoining house.

In the furnace marked money passed on them by the agents is said to have been found.

Four months nothing was heard from them but the trail was picked up a few days ago and followed swiftly to a house on Main st., Randolph. Before dawn today, Federal Narcotics Agent John C. McAvoy, a special agent from the Boston office and Police Chief Patrick McDonald of Randolph entered, after surrounding the house with local police as a guard against another escape.

Mrs. Marangi and Esposito were both asleep and the officers had no trouble. The prisoners were brought to the Federal Building in Boston here for arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Jenney.

ASK HOOVER AID IN BANKRUPTCY EXPOSE

New York, April 24 (INS)—President Hoover was asked today to act in the bankruptcy expose and to use his great powers in rending the veil which now hides the "higher ups."

Congressman Sirovich sent the President a telegram asking him to direct the attorney-general to aid the investigation. Action by the President was asked to restore public confidence in the courts and to definitely end the preying by the "bankruptcy ring" upon business interests in New York.

As the telegram was sent the federal grand jury was preparing to hear evidence against the ring in which David Steinhardt was involved, and particularly against the man who is alleged to have urged him to commit suicide rather than be forced to testify against those higher up.

GRAF ZEPPELIN OVER LISBON

Lisbon, Portugal, April 24—The Graf Zeppelin, making her second Mediterranean cruise with 19 passengers aboard, passed over this city at 10:45 a. m. (4:45 A. M. E. S. T.) today.

Residents of the city crowded every available roof-top as the huge craft came into sight, her silver-sheened sides glistening in the morning sunlight.

After circling the city, the Zeppelin headed southward and was reported over Seville, Spain, at 4 p m. (10 a. m. E. S. T.).

Eckener Radios to Home Hangar

Friedrichshafen, April 24—The following radio was received from the Graf Zeppelin, now making a second Mediterranean cruise:

"We passed over Porto, Portugal, at 6 o'clock this morning, in clear weather."

After passing over Montlucon, Central France, Dr. Eckener altered his original course, which would have taken him over the Pyrenees into Spain. Instead he proceeded toward the Atlantic coast, passing over Bordeaux, France, and thence out over the Bay of Biscay.

French Engineer Aboard Zeppelin

Berlin, April 24—The Graf Zeppelin, monarch of the skies, departed from its base at Friederichshafen at 1:33 p. m., Tuesday, on its second Mediterranean cruise.

The giant airliner, which was hel. up for 24 hours because of reported unfavorable weather conditions, slipped its moorings for an uncharted trip, with Spain the only definite goal.

In return for permission to place one of its own engineers aboard the Graf, the French air ministry permitted Dr. Eckener to fly over France in the daylight.

Miss Smith, in a heavily laden Bellanca monoplane, was soaring high over the field at 9:43 a. m. when she broke the record, her motor humming steadily and showing no indication of coming down. She smiled and waved to the crowd below.

At 2 this afternoon she had been in the air going on 27 hours.

Shortly after 1 o'clock Thomas Smith, father of the aviatrix, went up in a Lossing amphibian plane and flew beside his daughter's Bellanca for several minutes. The girl waved to him as he passed.

Earlier in the day Miss Smith dropped a note saying her stabilizer had gone wrong and that she was clinging to the control stick with both arms. This difficulty apparently corrected itself, however, as when photographers flew alongside her, about noon, she blew them kisses with both hands.

Baltimore Man Freed in Death After Party

New York, April 24 (AP)—The grand jury today failed to indict Samuel E. Bell of Baltimore, who has been held on a charge of manslaughter for the death of Arthur Morgan Smith, wealthy Cleveland business man, after a party in a Park avenue apartment. The complaint was dismissed.

Bell had gone to the party with Mrs. Robert Brown, Lexington, Ky., society woman. As the guests were leaving Smith insisted on entering Bell's car and Bell struck Smith, knocking him down. Smith died of a fractured skull.

PHYLLIS HAVER TO BE BRIDE OF MILLIONAIRE

New York, April 24 (INS)—Phyllis Haver, movie star, and William Seeman, millionaire merchant, are going to be married tonight and a few hours later will sail on the Cunarder Berengaria on their honeymoon.

Mayor Walker, lifelong friend of Seeman, will tie the knot for his friend, Billy, and Phyllis. The wedding is to take place at the home of "Rube" Goldberg, the cartoonist.

In the marriage license, which the couple took out yesterday, Phyllis told that she was 27 years old, and the daughter of James and Mary Shanks Haver, of Douglas, Kan. Seeman is 37. His address is given as New York city.

PUBLISHERS IN POWER INQUIRY

New York, April 24—Financing of newspapers by members of the "Power Trust" will be given an airing by the American Newspaper Publishers' Association at its annual meeting here this afternoon.

Chief interest will center around the Chicago Daily Journal, in which the International Paper Co., a subsidiary of the $300,000,000 International Paper & Power Co., has invested more than $1,800,000 and controls one-third of the common stock held in the name of William A. S Mulligan, a Chicago attorney.

CHARGE IN LETTER

Today's action on the part of the A. N. P. A. has been precipitated by a letter, sent to all members of the association by E. K. Gaylord, publisher of the Daily Oklahoman and Oklahoma City Times, in which he stated that the International Paper Co. held preferred stock in the sum of $600,000 and $1,000,000 debenture bonds of the Journal.

R. B. Tomason, editor and publisher of the Chicago Journal, said he would read a prepared statement at the meeting today setting forth the position of his paper.

The fight on newspapers financed in whole or in part by members of the "power trust" will be led by Col Robert Ewing, owner of several Louisiana newspapers, in the absence of Editor Gaylord, who is ill Col. Ewing recently started the country by an attack on Governor Huey Long, whose impeachment is now being considered by the Louisiana legislature.

IN WAKE OF EXPOSE

Coming on the heels of the recent purchase of the Boston Herald and Boston Traveler by the International group as exposed by W. R. Hearst's Boston Evening American, the financing of the Chicago Journal is expected to open up the whole question of the efforts of the power interests to control newspapers throughout the Nation.

It is understood that Mr. Thomason will tell the A. N. P. A. that William A. S. Mulligan of Chicago, listed as one of the owners of the Chicago Journal in its statement of ownership to the government, is acting for the International Paper Co. and that the one-third interest in the common stock is not sufficient to control the policy of the newspaper.

That debenture bonds, in the sum of $1,000,000, listed in the ownership statement with the Harris Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, as trustee, for the Boston Evening American, the International Paper Company, will be explained by Mr. Thomason. It is understood that he will tell the convention that $600,000, which constitutes all of the outstanding preferred stock of the Journal, is the property of the "power trust" subsidiary.

COMMITTEE HIT.

Because no non-voting preferred stock can be issued under Illinois laws, the International Paper Company has taken the obligations of the Bryan-Thomason Newspapers, Inc., owners of the Journal, which in turn become the obligation of the newspaper property, it was learned from a good authority. In this way, it was explained, the International Company cannot vote their preferred stock.

In the letter which Mr. Gaylord sent to all the publishers he voiced his disapproval of actions by the paper committee of the A. N. P. A. in settling on a price for newsprint. Mr. Thomason is the chairman of that committee.

New Manager for Worcester Light Co.

Worcester, April 24—When the New England Power Association officially takes over the Worcester Electric Light Co. on May 1, Leon Seekins, now general manager of the Lowell Electric Light Co., another N. E. P. subsidiary, will be placed in charge here. Seekins will manage the local company under a new board of directors not yet announced.

both today's petition and the show girl's suit for divorce, which charges Laffey with neglect to provide for herself and her son and daughter.

The court ruled that in the meantime, because of the extreme youth of the children, Mrs. Laffey should continue to have their custody.

PLANS "DISCLOSURES."

Laffey, through his attorney, agreed to pay his wife $10 a week until disposition of the suit.

"Baby" Hayes declared herself on the verge of collapse because of worry over the whereabouts of the children, who, she claimed, were removed by Laffey from her Commonwealth ave., Brighton, apartment on Sunday last before the order giving her temporary custody had been received.

The show girl promised "startling disclosures" when her suit is heard.

the general postoffice in Boston failed to arrive.

This bag of mail contained $1200 in cash and three schecks totalling about $200, postal revenue from the Watertown branch, and also 16 registered personal letters, presumed to contain checks or negotiable securities.

An immediate checkup by the postal authorities revealed that two pouches of personal mail, containing about 2000 letters, and sent on April 11 and 13 from the Watertown postoffice for delivery at the railway postoffice, South station, never had reached their destination.

What valuable were contained in these letters is not known nor is there any way of determining until their senders are informed by the intended receivers that they never arrived.

In each instance the pouch of mail was sent by automobile from the Watertown postal branch to the Newton station of the Boston & Albany railroad, to be placed aboard a mail car for shipment to Boston.

The investigation has so far progressed to the point where police and postal inspectors are satisfied the pouches were delivered at the Newton railroad station.

CLUES ARE LACKING

The fact that breaks have been reported at the station, it has been assumed, temporarily, that the pouches were placed aboard the mail car.

With the fact that the thefts ended with disappearance of the third pouch containing the cash and registered mail, substantiates a theory that someone having knowledge of an impending shipment of valuables from the Watertown postoffice was responsible for the robbery.

All the mail stolen was first class matter and none of it has been recovered.

LAUGHED AT 'SUICIDE' PLANS

By FRANCIS P. O'NEILL
Boston Evening American Staff Correspondent

Pawtucket, R. I., April 24—Francis E. Wheeler, married school teacher, was the first to talk of suicide as a way out of the tangled love-affair between himself and 15-year-old Florence Weirbrick, according to new evidence which Coronet George J. Howe of Central Falls was considering today.

Dr. Howe was in possession of testimony to the effect that Wheeler told the Weirbrick girl that should their romance be made public he would kill himself.

In the alleged conversation the teacher was also represented as having discussed the possibility of suicide on the part of Miss Weirbrick, only to be laughingly told by the later, "Nothing doing. I tried that once, and I know better now."

Information upon the case was thrown by Deputy Chief of Police Joseph Chaput, star witness at the coroner's inquest, which is to settle the question of whether Florence Weirbrick was murdered or whether she took her own life by hurling herself into the path of a New Haven railroad train.

Chaput told of a dramatic interview which he had with the Weirbrick girl's school chum, Anna Niemic, also 15, in the undertaking parlor where the youthful love-victim's body had just been identified.

LAUGHED AT IDEA

The chief said that the chum sobbed out the story of the tragic Wheeler-Weirbrick affair, in which she admitted having acted as confidante and go-between.

Miss Niemic, according to Chaput, declared that Florence Weirbrick described to her the suicide conversation with Wheeler.

Florence, telling of the morbid talk, insisted that she had scoffed at the idea of self-inflicted death as an outcome of her romance with the teacher. She confessed to Miss Niemic, said the latter, that she had once attempted suicide by drinking iodine, had merely made herself sick and had resolved to try no such foolishness again.

Then, according to Chaput, told him that she had been finally informed by the Weirbrick girl that the affair was "through with Wheeler forever." Florence gave Miss Niemic some of Wheeler's letters to return to him, Miss Niemic said.

This was three days before Florence's mangled form was found on the tracks below the Cross st. bridge, Central Falls. The chum did not finally deliver the letters, she said, until after the death.

According to Chaput, his first inkling of the possibility of murder in the Weirbrick case came when he was summoned to the dead girl's side by telephone. At the undertaking parlor he found Miss Niemic, the chum, and Mrs. Mary Conway, Florence Weirbrick's sister.

There, standing near he body, the two young women made their charge that Wheeler had been illicitly involved with the school girl victim and that, in their opinion, foul play was involved in the affair.

GRILLED WHEELER

Chaput's testimony before Coroner Howe was the first revelation which the officer had made of the details of his investigation. His evidence was the most startling of any thus far given in the eight days of the inquest, in which 39 witnesses have been called and more than 22,000 words of transcript taken.

The deputy chief also told of grilling Wheeler at Central Falls police headquarters, obtaining from him admissions of having been intimate with Miss Weirbrick, of having exchanges gifts with her, and of having given her medicine for a condition which alarmed them both.

Wheeler said he got the medicine from his home where it had previously been used by his wife, Chaput testified.

Guardsmen Jailed for Missing Drills

At a court-martial in the Woburn armory, Pvt. Nicholas Landeno of the Massachusetts National Guard was found guilty of absenting himself from company drills and was sentenced to eight days in the House of Correction.

Landeno was turned over to Chief Charles R. McCauley of the Woburn police and brought to Boston to serve the term.

Fishing Center Swept by Flames

St. John's, N. F., April 24 (AP)—Damage estimated at $150,000 was caused by fire today at Carbonear, an important fisheries outfitting town on Conception bay.

The fire started in the plant of the United Towns Electric Company and soon enveloped several business buildings.

TO WED YOUNG OSTEOPATHY STUDENT

Secret marriage plans of Dr. Gertrude Hertha Adams, 25-year-old Boston osteopath and daughter of a wealthy Schenectady, N. Y., family, and Richard Francis Welch, 24, freshman at the Massachusetts College of Osteopathy were revealed today with filing of an application for a marriage license at Providence.

Dr. Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams, at present in Miami, Fla., opened an office recently at 353 Washington st., Brighton.

She was graduated in 1927 from the Massachusetts College of Osteopathy, Newbury st., Back Bay, and passed the state medical board examinations as a practicing physician. She is a graduate of St. John's Academy, Schenectady, and is licensed to practice in Florida and Maine, as well as in this state.

Welch, whose acquaintance she made at an osteopathic school, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Welch of 22 Winthrop st., Brighton.

Both Welch and Dr. Adams made the trip to Providence to file intentions.

W. SOMERVILLE FIRE ROUTS 15

Fifteen persons, including a number of children, were driven out when fire was discovered on the second floor of the three-story six-family wooden dwelling, 60-62 College ave., West Somerville, early today.

The fire, which started on the piazza in the rear of 62 College ave., was discovered by William Morrissey, an occupant of that floor, who was awakened by the crackling of flames. He aroused the other occupants and gave the alarm.

The blaze spread into the interior of the house, and according to District Chief Hathaway, caused damage to building and contents of $12,000.

The first floor at No. 60 is vacant, the second is occupied by Mrs. Florence Kernahan with her four children and the top floor by Mrs. E. L. Hodgkins and two daughters.

At No. 62 Mrs. A. G. Skidmore and Mrs. M. L. Steele occupy the top floor; Lillian A. Young, Ernest Goodspeed and William Morrissey the second, and Joseph Sandberger and family the first.

9 With Gas Inhalator Win 13-Hour Fight for Life

A thirteen-hour battle for the life of Benjamin Cashman, 55, of 25 Chester ave., Chelsea, stricken with heart failure last night, was won today my employes of the Boston Consolidated Gas Co., armed with an inhalator.

Working in relays, the men fought on hour after hour, pumping the contents of fifteen tanks of oxygen into the lungs of the unconscious man, to have their efforts eventually crowned with success.

Dr. Jacob M. Masters, attending physician, who kept the long vigil with the gas company employes, reported this afternoon that his patient would live.

Stricken at 11:35 last night, Cashman failed to react to stimulants, and Dr. Masters notified the gas company. An emergency crew of nine men, headed by George Peachey and John Dowdy, arrived shortly after with an inhalator and went to work.

Through the night they labored, relieving each other from time to time, and this morning, tired out but still determined, were sent home when another crew arrived to take their places.

In twelve hours fourteen tanks of oxygen had been used, and the feeble flicker of Cashman's heart was growing stronger. Encouraged by this report the men renewed their efforts, and an hour later were informed that they had saved the man's life.

DISABLED SHIP IN PORT AFTER SEA BATTLE

Showing signs of her terrific battle against mountainous seas and lashing winds, the West Hika docked at the South Boston dry dock today. She was met at the Graves by the tugs Saturn and Juno, which took her in tow, supplementing the wor! of the cutters Mojave and Acushnet.

The West Hika was disabled 200 miles east of Nantucket when its rudder broke and was at the mercy of the elements for over a day before the Mojave reached her. Radio Operator Arthur C. Omberg was at his post for 24 hours without a break before the captain, R. W. Sweeting, hailed the Mojave.

The ship will be dry-docked at the South Boston dock and her rudder repaired. It will be necessary to remove most of its 6000 tons of cargo, estimated as being worth $1,000,000, in order to jack the ship up on the ways. When repairs are completed she will continue her voyage to London, Antwerp and Rotterdam, where she was bound out of Mobile before the near-disaster overtook her.

Capt. Sweeting expressed his thanks to the crew of the Mojave, saying if it had not been for the work of the latter his ship would have been doomed.

The members of the crew in the after part of the vessel declare a vote of thanks is due James C. Morris, mess boy, who made trips from the galley to the stern of the ship with food for the crew. "Every trip I made," said Morris, "I'd keep an eye on the waves, which were breaking over the sides of the ship and threatening to take me and the food overboard."

Sen. Fish Attacks Chiropractor Bill

Arguing for maintenance of "the single standard," Sen. Eyland Fish of Brookline, floor leader of the Senate, today led the fight against the bill to extend state recognition to chiropractors.

"I hope this bill will not go to a third reading," he said. "I have no spite against the chiropractors and admit they might do good, but I am against breaking down the single standard.

"Anyone specializing on the heart has to take a full examination in medicine and I believe the chiropractor should do the same.

"Under this bill the board for which it provides would be allowed to give licenses to those who are graduates from chiropractic schools with a certain minimum hours of study."

Wife Charges Desertion

James Ford of Malden packed up his belongings and left home after his wife, Aida, interrogated him as to his whereabouts on the Labor Day week-end of last year, she testified in Middlesex court today at hearing of her suit for separate support and custody of their daughter, Norma, aged three.

Mrs. Ford said she went home to her mother in East Boston after failing to effect a reconciliation. She told Judge Leggat that worry over domestic affairs at times caused her to become semi-conscious.

BOY, 3, IS FOUND DEAD IN RIVER

The body of a three-year-old boy was found floating in the Charles river opposite the Faneuil depot today by Harlan D. Gray. Gray was working on his boat at the float when he noticed the body floating nearby. He carried the body ashore and notified the Metropolitan District police and Medical Examiner McGrath, who ordered the body sent to Northern Mortuary.

Police believe there is a possibility of the body being that of the missing James Colora, 3, of 59 Donny Brook rd., Brighton, who has been missing since morning.

PLEADS ALIBI IN HOLDUP

Joseph H. McGlinchey of Charlestown, one of four defendants on trial in Suffolk Superior Criminal Court for the robbery of the Madow Shoe Factory, Chelsea, of $5800, today completed the testimony of Philip J. Cronin, a Government witness.

Cronin, an alleged confederate, now serving a sentence in State Prison, had testified that McGlinchey was one of the gang which committed the robbery. McGlinchey, in his own behalf, said he was working in a Revere restaurant on June 13 last, the day of the robbery.

His counsel, Atty. James H. Brennan, told the court and jury that another defendant, Daniel Watts, was ill at home when the robbery took place, and Abraham Cohen, third member of the group, was at Nantasket. The fourth defendant is William Troy, who is acting as his own counsel.

Free After Decoy Leads to Trouble

Tampa, Fla., April 24 (AP)—Robert G. Thom, formerly of Plymouth, Mass., was acquitted today of a blackmail charge. Thom was arrested last week after he had picked up a decoy package on a suburban street, placed there by Miss Isabel Montiel, who in a letter from an unidentified person had been ordered to place $2500 there under threat of death. Thom informed the court that he picked up the package because it had a dollar bill on the outside which had attracted his curiosity.

$2,155,000 BASIN BILL WINS IN COMMITTEE

SUM INCLUDES MRS. STORROW MILLION GIFT

With the sunken roadway eliminated, the legislative committee on metropolitan affairs today reported the bill calling for $2,155,000 for improving and beautifying the Charles River Basin. Included in this sum is the $1,000,000 gift of Mrs. James J. Storrow.

The Senate chairman of the committee, Charles Warren of Arlington, reserved his rights, and Representatives Ames of Lynn, Holmes of Weymouth, Standish of Stoneham, Dearborn of Somerville and Twohig of South Boston dissented from the report.

Under the bill, Mrs. Storrow is permitted to erect a suitable memorial on the shores of the basin and at such location and in such form as the metropolitan district commission may approve.

FEATURES OF BILL

Main features of the bill are:

Widening the Charlesbank park and playground between the dam and Longfellow bridge by extending the present river boundary to include an additional area which shall have a width not exceeding at any point 300 feet beyond the present boundary of the present park and playgrounds.

Widen the embankment between Longfellow bridge and Otter st. to provide construction of a road connecting Embankment road with the underpass under Longfellow bridge.

Widen the Boston embankment between Otter st. and Charlesgate West by adding an area not less than the equivalent of a strip of land 225 feet wide.

Extend the short line by fill into the basin along Back st. and Ray State rd. between Charlesgate West and the Cottage Farm bridge by adding an area not less than the equivalent of a strip of land 122 feet wide.

PLAN BATHING BEACH.

Construct a foot bridge from the end of St. Paul st. or Gaffney st. over the B. & A. tracks and Soldiers' Field rd., to a bathing beach to be established on the Boston side adjacent to the foot bridge.

Lay out and construct from Arsenal and Market sts., Brighton, a parkway to North Beacon st. Construct an underpass in the memorial drive in Cambridge carrying the parkway under Massachusetts ave.

Of the cost, $400,000 is to be paid by Boston over a period of three years; $135,000 by Cambridge over a two-year period; $310,000 from the State highway fund, and the balance, $310,000, by Brookline and towns of the metropolitan district.

In addition, the street commissioners, with the approval of the mayor, may construct other vehicular circles and needed improvements at an extra expense of $1,000,000.

BABE'S BRIDE FINDS JOY IN HOUSEWORK

By HELEN COOLIDGE

"How does it feel to be the wife of a public character?"

Babe Ruth laughed when I put this question to his bride at the Hotel Brunswick, but she answered very seriously, "I hate being in the limelight. I shall be so glad when all this excitement is over, and we have a chance to get off quietly by ourselves."

She meant it, too. There is no affectation about Mrs. Ruth. She is a slim, dark-eyed beauty, who dresses quietly and talks quietly. And if ever a woman could make a man toe the mark and love it, it's Mrs. Ruth.

HOME LIFE SIMPLE

"Our home life is as simple and quiet as anyone could imagine. Six nights a week at home, that's the schedule. We're both very fond of music, you know, and I play the piano for George often in the evenings. We read a lot, too, mostly mystery stories. I usually read aloud because George likes to save his eyes as much as possible."

There is no breakfasting in bed for Mrs. Ruth. She smiled at the suggestion.

"I plan the meals and order them the first thing in the morning. That takes a lot of time and care when the Babe is in training. I always tell him he won't put on weight when he eats my meals. We have quantities of vegetables, always fresh, roast, fish and lots of chicken, but never any white bread or potatoes.

2 MEALS A DAY

"George reports to the ball park the first thing in the morning and comes back for breakfast around 10 or 10:30. Of course he can only have two meals a day, so we have a rather early dinner, about 6:30.

"A farm!" She hesitated at the suggestion. "We would both love it, but of course he will be connected with baseball for many years, and it's not so easy to find a farm near New York. Sometime, perhaps——. But that," she added, "is looking very far ahead."

WOMAN OF 13 ALIASES

MARION BRAZIER

The nation's most notorious "con" woman and jail breaker, now serving a sentence for mulcting Boston dry goods stores and passing bad checks, is expected to be called as a witness in the trial of "Generous Tom" Wye, former Winchendon man, who was indicted with the Brazier woman in 1927, but only just put on trial.

Grease Smeared Statue of Burns Angers Scots

It was Bobbie Burns who wrote "A man's a man for a' that," but the Scotch brand of philosophy doesn't hold good when it comes to smearing oil over the statue of Scotia's beloved poet.

Out in Quincy the Scotch organizations rose in their wrath when informed that miscreants had taken liberties with the Burns statue in Quincy center. Today the great Bobbie greeted citizens in a spring garb of thick grease. It was the last straw on the Scotchmen's back.

Now comes Mayor Thomas J. McGrath of the Granite City and offers a reward of $100 for the apprehension of the perpetrators. Every true Scotchman in Quincy will seek to vindicate the memory of Burns by winning the reward.

TOM WYE TO BE TRIED ON OLD CHARGE

Won by Hub Man

"Generous Tom" Wye, former Winchendon manufacturer, must stand trial tomorrow on a two-year-old indictment charging that he conspired with Marion Brazier, the country's most notorious "con" woman, in a mulcting process worked on Boston stores in 1923.

The Brazier woman, of 13 aliases and a criminal career of 22 years, during which she once escaped from a brand new million-dollar jail in Hackensack, N. J., is serving the second year of a five-year sentence at Bridgewater State Farm, and may appear in court as a witness.

GUARANTEED ACCOUNT.

Wye, it is alleged, guaranteed the charge accounts of Marion Brazier in 1923 when she came to Boston posing as Marguerite Murray, a motion picture actress, and left town with several thousand dollars worth of luxuries, including a $2500 sealskin wrap.

All these articles were pawned, and Wye, married and the father of four children, soon after went bankrupt.

Nearly four years elapsed before Marion Brazier again returned to Boston. A series of "rubber" checks, to which were attached several of her aliases, apprised police she was back in the Hub, and her arrest followed a visit she made to "Generous Tom" Wye's office.

PLEADED GUILTY.

In May, 1927, she pleaded guilty in Suffolk Criminal Court to a long list of indictments, but Wye, accused of conspiracy, never has gone to trial and has been at liberty on low bail.

If Marion Brazier is taken from jail when Wye's trial begins she will be guarded as carefully as any male prisoner ever taken into a courtroom.

When she escaped from the New Jersey prison in 1925 she left a note bidding the detective who work had resulted in her imprisonment to "laugh this one off."

MODEL AIRPLANE MEET IN BOSTON PLANNED FOR MEMBERS OF LINDBERGH CLUB

presentation of the wedding gift on behalf of the club.

Another purpose of the Boston American Club is to promote the spirit of aviation among New England boys and girls.

Have you ever watched an airplane sail through the air and then wish you were rich enough, all by yourself, to own one of those marvelous planes.

Well it isn't necessary to be rich to own an airplane—one that will really fly, do the loop-the-loop and other stunts in the air.

The Boston Evening American has arranged to give every member of the American Lindbergh Club, boys and girls, instructions in how to build airplanes. This will be just one of the small treats offered American Lindbergh Club members.

If every boy and girl follows the instructions in the Boston Evening American every day, in a very few weeks they will be able to make all sorts of planes, planes that will really fly.

The instructions, plenty of drawings and diagrams with full instructions for making and assembling each part will start in Thursday's Boston Evening American. These instructions have been prepared by Frank Tonis, instructor at the Longwood Day School, and model airplane demonstrator for the Community Service of Boston, Inc.

On page 12 in today's Boston Evening American, Tonis gives the first general instructions to members of the Boston American Lindbergh Club on how to begin the construction of model planes. Be sure to read this article carefully. Tonis already has built many different kinds of model airplanes which actually fly. Some of them will stay in the air a long time. Others will go up many feet.

Any boy or girl who follows his plans can make a plane in a few hours that will fly.

MODEL PLANE MEET

The first plane that members of the club will be instructed in building is called the "Baby R. O. G." This, as Tonis explains, means "rising off the ground."

Community Service of Boston, Inc., has arranged for a model airplane meet in Boston, May 25. The Boston American Lindbergh Club members will have the opportunity of flying their planes at that meet, and prizes will be presented to the members whose planes stay in the air longest. Additional information about the meet and the prizes will be announced later.

The first model that Tonis will tell how to build is probably the simplest kind. It will be on this model that prizes will be offered in connection with the meet of Community Service of Boston, Inc.

We want every boy and girl who is a member of the club to build at least one of these "Baby R. O. G." models. If your first plane does not fly as well as you think it should, build another. If the second one does not meet your approval, construct a third one. Keep doing this until you have built a plane you are perfectly satisfied with, and which you will enter in the meet of May 25. Remember that many fine prizes are going to be offered for these planes. These prizes will be articles that will delight every boy and girl.

PRELIMINARY MAY 4

A preliminary meet will be held in Boston, probably on Saturday morning, May 4, for the purpose of giving a practical demonstration of how these little planes fly. Several boys who have already built planes will be present to show what they have done.

Tonis will be there to answer questions in case children have had any difficulty in the construction.

There will be additional surprises in connection with this preliminary meet of May 4, but we are not going to tell you about all these good things at once. Watch the Boston Evening American every day, so that you will miss nothing.

More than 32,000 New England children are now enrolled as members of the Boston Evening American Lindbergh Club. Most of these children have already received their membership cards and buttons of red, white and blue. Others are in the mail now. A large force of clerks is busy daily sending them out. We have not caught up with the mail yet, but we hope to do so in another day or two. If you have not yet received your membership card and button, please be patient, you will get it soon.

PENNY ONLY COST

Remember that dues are only a PENNY, and that your PENNY will be used to purchase a wedding gift for "Lindy" and his bride. This gift, to be called "The Spirit of New England Boys and Girls," is a silver replica of the "Spirit of St. Louis," in which the former mail pilot made his marvelous flight from New York to Paris overnight.

As will be observed from glancing at today's Boston Evening American, the names of hundreds of additional children who have become members of the Club appear in print, making a total of nearly 20,000 that have been printed in this newspaper during the past few days.

Scan today's list carefully. Is YOUR name there? No! Then watch the Boston Evening American every day and you will find it, perhaps tomorrow or maybe the next day. We will print it as soon as possible.

After you receive your membership card and button all that is necessary for you to become a candidate for the visit to Washington, D. C., is to write a letter containing 50 or more words on the subject "What Lindy Means to Me."

Twelve children are to be chosen for this visit to the Nation's Capital.

BOARD OF JUDGES

The letters of all boys and girls who compete for this trip will be passed on carefully by a board of judges comprised of men and women who are prominent in public life and in the aviation field. The letters will be divided into two groups—those written by children ranging from eight to 13 years, inclusive, who are termed Juniors, and the remainder, written by children from 13 to 18 years inclusive, who are called Seniors. Six Juniors and six Seniors in care of 12 parents or guardians—one for each child chosen—will go to Washington. A competent supervisor will accompany the party of 24.

Think of it—if you are one of the fortunate 12 picked by the judges, you will see the President of the United States. You will see the original "Spirit of St. Louis," in which Col. Lindbergh made his flight from this country to France, and you will visit the National House of Representatives and the United States Senate while in session.

What more could you ask! Is there any boy or girl in New England that doesn't want to do these things?

This is a club of children in the six New England States between the ages of 8 and 18 years, formed for the purpose of interesting children in aviation and particularly in the supreme aviator, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The club has been named after him, not for the purpose of exploiting his name, but because he represents to all, whether men, women or children, those ideals to which we should aspire, and because in him is personified courage, ability and supreme modesty.

Some members of the children's club will see Col. Lindbergh. Many of them never will, but all of them by being members of the club which bears his name will feel closer to him and should receive, and it is hoped will receive, the urge to pattern themselves after him and live up to the standards which he maintains.

Col. Lindbergh is not the creator of this club. Although he is not a member (none but children are active members) it is named for him because of the inspiration his name will bring to every child who is a member of it.

Address your letters and membership coupons to Editor, Boston Evening American Lindbergh Club, P. O. Box 185, Boston, Mass.

OPEN PASSOVER AT SUNSET

Synagogues and other Jewish institutions of Boston were today preparing for the opening at sunset of the annual festival of the Passover, commemorating the exodus of the Israelites from Egypt under the leadership of Moses.

Ceremonies begin at sundown.

The orthodox observers of the faith continue for eight days, eating unleavened bread, or matzoths, instead of the customary bread, and otherwise reproducing the circumstances that befell Israel when he fled from the bondage of Pharaoh.

In every Boston synagogue and temple the celebration was to be under way tonight, repeating in prayer and worship the story of the delivery from slavery in Egypt. After the synagogue and temple ceremonies, the festival is resumed in the home, where a quaintly beautiful "seder" service, or ceremony attending the Passover supper, conducted by the head of the household with his family and guests gathered about him, marks the advance of the holiday.

FAVOR LABOR CONTRACT BILL IN COMMITTEE

A bill to regulate individual labor contracts, which has the backing of shoe workers in Lynn, Brockton, Haverhill and other communities, was today reported favorably by the legislative committee on labor and industries.

The text of the bill is: "Any written contract or agreement of employment shall be null and void unless, at the time of the making of such contract or agreement, an exact copy thereof is delivered to the employe or prospective employer, or by his or its authorized representative.

"And any contract or agreement of employment in which a condition of consideration, expressed or implied, in whole or in part, for the acceptance of such contract or agreement by the employer or prospective employer, includes the purchase by the employe or prospective employe of capital stock of any nature in the business of the employer or prospective employer, shall be null and void."

Irish, Modern Dances at McDonough Club

Freed on Charge of Drunken Driving

Frederick E. Burton of Brattle st., Cambridge, in municipal court today was acquitted of drunken driving, when he testified the officer's charge was made after he had obeyed an order to get into the car and turn on the lights.

Burton was arrested at Boylston st. and Massachusetts ave., on a charge of drunkenness. He claimed the arresting officer ordered him into the car and then charged him with operating under the influence of liquor. Judge Carr refused to accept this as evidence of guilt.

Ted Claire at Benefit Show

The use of the Field's Corner Theater in Dorchester for tomorrow night, together with its entertainment bill, has been given over for a testimonial to Rev. Fr. Denais J. Maguire, popular rector of St. Ambrose Church, who has been transferred to a parish in Wrentham.

As a special feature, Manager Louis Newman of the theater, has secured Ted Claire and his Metropolitan Merrymakers from the Metropolitan Theater for a full performance of their show at the testimonial. To help the Claire aggregation make time on keeping engagements at both theaters, the police department has assigned a motorcycle vanguard to get right of way for the entertainers.

Heading the committee arranging the event is City Councilor Thomas McMahon, and the treasurer is Joseph P. Donahue. The feature film for the evening will be Belle Bennett in "The Power of Silence."

BISHOP WON'T DISCUSS 'WET SHIP' CHOICE

New York, April 24 (AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, arriving today on the White Star liner Olympic, declined to be disturbed by a wireless message sent to him yesterday by Congressman F. H. Laguardia, New York, asking "why he traveled on a wet ship instead of a dry one."

The bishop admitted having received the message, but did not know whether he would answer it or not. He characterized the message as being "an attempt to achieve the spectacular."

Bishop Cannon was returning home from a winter cruise on the Caligarie to the Mediterranean.

The bishop saw little likelihood of prohibition in some of the countries he had visited, such as Egypt, France and England. Foreign influence in Egypt prevent prohibition, he said, although the Mohammedans are abstainers. He said he thought England was becoming more temperate, but did not think the question would be of much moment in the coming British elections.

Of France the bishop said it "is the most alcoholized nation in the world."

"If a man is going abroad for business or pleasure, I think it does not cut much ice whether the ship is wet or dry," he said. "I don't see why a man should shape his trip just to get a morning toddy."

Driver Is Freed in Death of Children

Francis Koch of Vernon st., Rockland, driver of the truck which crushed out the lives of Warren J. Griswold, six, and his brother, Arthur, four, arraigned in Dorchester court today on a manslaughter charge, was exonerated. The court found Koch was not at fault, the children having run out into the path of his machine.

FILM darkens teeth
Remove it daily

Film discolors teeth and then destroys them. Dentists urge a special way to remove it.

FOR years thousands thought their teeth naturally discolored and dull. Then they made a simple test that brought a glorious surprise.

A film was found to absorb stains from food and smoking and turn white teeth dull. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It is the chief cause of the commonest tooth and gum disorders.

Film hardens into tartar. Germs by the millions breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Film must be removed each day. Ordinary brushing fails to do it successfully. So dentists urge the special film-removing dentifrice called Pepsodent.

Write for free 10-day supply to The Pepsodent Co., 1104 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, or ask your druggist for full-size tube.

B. & A. TO SPEED SERVICE; ADDS NEW FLIER

The Boston & Albany Railroad puts on one new through train and speeds up the running time of a number of trains, in addition to generally setting schedules ahead one hour with the beginning of daylight saving time next Sunday at 2 a. m.

The new train is the Ohio State Limited, which will leave Boston at 12:15 p. m., Eastern Standard time, making stops at Trinity Place, Framingham, Worcester, East Brookfield, Warren, Palmer, Springfield, Pittsfield, Albany (5:50 p. m.), before passing on to the N. Y. Central line for points in the middle west.

The Twentieth Century Limited, both east and westbound, is set ahead one hour, westbound leaving Boston at 11:30 a. m. and eastbound arriving at the South Station at 11 a. m., E. S. T.

Important through trains which will not be set ahead an hour, but which will run at the times shown in the following list are the North Shore Limited, leaving Boston at 9:30 a. m.; Southwestern limited, 2:10 p. m.; Wolverine, 3:15 p. m.; Cleveland limited, 3:40 p. m., Western Express, 6:10 p. m.; Buffalo Express, 7:35 p. m.

Local trains are set ahead one hour, but there are important additions to service which summer timetables, ready for distribution prior to Sunday, will show in detail.

Boston-New York Trains to Make Run in 5 Hours

New Haven, Ct., April 24 (AP)—A little more speed, or at least a little saving of time for through trains between New York and Boston, will be effective with the new train schedules beginning Sunday when the New Haven road adjusts its operations to the functioning of daylight saving time.

Lumping the time-savings, three hours and twenty-four minutes will be clipped off the running time of 15 trains. The Knickerbocker and the Merchants Limited trains will each cover the New-York Boston run in five hours flat, a ten-minute saving.

Trains which have connections with lines outside New England—Federal, Colonial, New England, Montrealer and Washington—will not have their times adjusted to conform to daylight saving.

Plane Hits Power Line and an Auto

Los Angeles, April 24 (AP)—Lieut. Harold F. Brown made a forced landing in a busy Los Angeles street after his motor had stalled 2000 feet above the city.

The plane struck a power line and crashed into an automobile, slightly injuring the driver. Brown suffered a broken shoulder bone and his mechanic received bruises.

TRIUMPH SHOWS SPEED IN TESTS

The shipping board freighter Triumph, reconditioned at the Charlestown navy yard at the cost of $1,300,000, was ready for duty today, after proving herself one of the fastest cargo vessels afloat.

In an official test, conducted in Massachusetts Bay, the Triumph did 15.4 knots per hour.

This showing was better than that of her two sister ships, the Defiance and Courageous, which were similarly changed and which, with the Triumph, form a swift trio of American flag freighters competing for the Australian and Far East trade.

The Triumph, with a party of 150 aboard, including officials of the Navy Department, left the Charlestown yard and proceeded to a point off Graves light, where her anchors were dropped and then raised to test the windlass.

Off Thatchers Island a series of manoeuvres were executed, the ship cutting figure eights and circles to show the ease with which she responded to her steering gear.

Hot Dogs Have Their Day—Elect a Mayor

Dallas, Tex., April 24 (AP)—The lowly "hot dog" has swept Waddy Tate, former minor official in a railroad office here, into the office of mayor of Dallas.

Tate, independent candidate, whose third campaign for the mayoralty was featured by "hot dog" rallies at which he served thousands of frankfurter sandwiches to voters, was elected yesterday.

British Fliers Hop to Set Two Records

Cranwell Airdrome, Eng., April 24 (INS)—A giant Royal Air Force monoplane, carrying 1000 gallons of fuel, hopped off here at 10:45 o'clock a. m. for Bangalore, India, in an attempt to establish new world long distance and duration records. The occupants are Squadron Leader J. O. C. S. Williams and Flight Lieut. N. H. Jenkins.

BOY IS ON TRIAL FOR DEATHS OF 5 IN FIRE

Gastonia, N. C., April 24 (INS)—Jacob Vanderlung, 17-year-old farm boy charged with firing his homestead, burning to death his parents, two sisters and a brother last winter because his father agreed to send his elder sister to college, today went on trial for murder.

Neighbors who rushed to the house when they saw it in flames said the son started to drive off his father's auto when he could have been trying to rescue those trapped in the house.

When arrested he was wearing his best clothing and carried his father's rifle. He told sheriffs "he called to them, but they wouldn't come." He denied he ignited the house.

Roxbury Man Is Beaten and Robbed

John Graham of 82 Washington ave., Roxbury, was taken to City Hospital today suffering from injuries received when he was beaten and robbed of $22 by two men, while waiting for a car at Ziegler and Washington sts., Roxbury.

Members of Capt. Livingston's squad took a man to the hospital where they say he was identified by Graham as one of his assailants. He was taken to headquarters and questioned, and was then held as a suspicious person.

Bishop Curley in Plea for Red Cross

Washington, April 24 (AP)—Archbishop Michael J. Curley of Baltimore and William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, joined in an appeal for the extension of the American Red Cross.

Addressing more than 800 Red Cross workers at the annual convention, Bishop Curley urged expansion until every American and every child is a member. The labor chief pledged the continued support of his organization and called on all groups to respond to appeals of the Red Cross.

Says Hoover Will Be Nation's Food Guide

Chicago, April 24 (INS)—Public health is likely to reach its highest average under the administration of President Hoover, Dr. H. E. Barnard, an Indianapolis food expert, today told the Western Canners' Association in annual convention.

"Proper eating is the secret of health. Hoover, food administrator of war days, will lead the way in educating the Nation to an appreciation of this truth.

At Home

The day's work is done. The evening meal is over. The members of the family gather round to relax, and enjoy a social hour before evening engagements call them away.

Could there be a better time for visiting by telephone, with greater assurance that those upon whom you call will be "at home!"

And, if any further persuasion be needed, there are the low evening rates which apply from 7:00 to 8:30 each night. For example:

From Down-Town Boston to
Barre, Vt.	.70	Newport, Vt.	.85
Bath, Me.	.65	No. Conway, N.H.	.75
Burlington, Vt.	.85	Portland, Me.	.55
Buzzard's Bay	.35	Provincetown	.35
Fitchburg	.35	Somersworth, N.H.	.40
Holyoke	.50	Waterville, Me.	.80
Laconia, N. H.	.50	Westerly, R. I.	.45
New Bedford	.35	York, Me.	.40

These rates are for three-minute station-to-station calls. Particular person calls take full day rates.

These rates are made to decrease the cost of your evening calls at a time when you are most likely to find friends at home. Further reductions, of course, are possible on calls made between 8:30 P.M. and 4:30 A.M.

Plumbers to Star in Actress' "Bath" Suit

New York, April 24 (INS)—Armed with a Supreme Court order, Juanita Hansen, screen actress, today will send engineers to the Lincoln hotel to inspect water pipes in connection with her $100,000 damage suit against the hotel. Miss Hansen maintains she was permanently injured at the hotel when she stepped under a shower, turned on the faucet marked "cold" and was scalded by hot water.

Mittleberger Is New Chancellor

Vienna, April 24 (AP)—The task of quieting Austria's troubled political waters was transferred today to Prof. John Mittleberger, a financial expert, Dr. Otto Ender having declined to form a Cabinet to succeed that of Ignaz Seipel, resigned.

The new chancellor has been financial adviser to Dr. Ender, governor Vorarlberg province.

Kick Balks Lone Bandit in One-Man Car Holdup

Pawtucket, R. I., April 23—The story of how an attempted holdup by a young man armed with a gun was blocked by a kick in the stomach administered by the operator of a one-man car was told the police early today.

Robert J. Roberts, motorman, said he had reached the end of the Benefit st. line and after changing trolleys was preparing to start the return trip to the North Main st. carhouse when he heard a rap on the door.

Roberts said he opened the door and a young man between 20 and 25 years old, armed with a revolver, jumped on the step, pointed his weapon at the motorman and ordered:

"Throw up your hands!"

Instead of complying the motorman said he kicked the hold-up man in the stomach, knocking him from the step, closed the door and drove away.

Wrong Company Named in Suit

New York, April 24 (AP)—The Associated Press in a Chicago dispatch April 18, erroneously identified as a New York concern the Peabody Houghteling Company against which an injunction had been sought to prevent it disposing of its assets.

The injunction was asked for 500 English and Scotch investors who seek $2,500,000 invested in the defunct New England Oil Refining Co., claiming Peabody Houghteling nuisn.presented the issue as a first lien on oil land.

The company sued is an Illinois corporation once affiliated with Peabody, Houghteling & Co. of New York. The firms have been segregated, however, and the New York concern has been succeeded by Peabody, Smith & Co., Inc., which now has no connection with the Illinois corporation.

Law Looked Easy, So Darrow Took It Up

Chicago, April 24 (AP)—Clarence Darrow became a lawyer, he told the Covenant Club, because he was "just the product of an inevitable chain of circumstances that I could not control—and so is everyone."

Lawyers, he said, "never seemed to work and always wore good clothes," so he took to law. For many years he confined his practice to civil cases. Then he was literally forced against his will into defending Eugene V. Debs in the Pullman strike case."

Washington, April 24 (AP)—The findings of the emergency board created to investigate a threatened strike on the Texas & Pacific railroad were presented to President Hoover today by James R. Garfield, chairman of the board.

LEVEE BREAKS IN NEW FLOOD

Quincy, Ill., April 24 (AP)—The pounding waters of the Mississippi battered a new breach in the protecting wall along the South Quincy Gardens today and poured in upon 5000 acres of improved farm lands.

The dyke gave way despite the gradual recession of the Mississippi flood, which had dropped sixtenths of a foot overnight. Several weak spots had developed yesterday along the levee extending south of Quincy for five miles to Marblehead, and one of them, undermined further by today's steady rain, crumbled.

Residents of South Quincy Gardens had prepared to abandon their homes and no loss of life or livestock was anticipated.

Reparations Board Near Disbandment

Paris, April 23 (AP)—There were few indications today that the door to further negotiations left open by the conference of experts on reparations would prevent disbandment a few days hence. Preparation of a report to the governments concerned occupied a sub-committee composed of chiefs of the national delegates. It was believed their work would take one or two weeks.

They Pin a Medal on "Hell 'n' Maria"

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, April 24 (AP)—Charles G. GIRL EMPLOYE TESTIFIES FOR LA PLACE

A denial that Basil E. La Place, former manager of the auto loan department, had ever suggested concealment of National Shawmut Bank accounts, featured the testimony of Miss Marcelle Foster, his former bookkeeper, called in Federal court as a witness against La Place on $85,000 misapplication charges.

Miss Foster, who now lives at Boothbay Harbor, Me., was bookkeeper for La Place from December, 1925, to September, 1926, and supervised the accounts dealing with the contract and earned discount business of the auto loan department.

Her direct testimony for the government, at the hands of Asst. U. S. Atty. John J. Walsh, was confined to the identification of orders which passed through her handscalling for the issue of cashier's checks, which the prosecution charges eventually were converted to his own use by La Place.

"Did Mr. La Place ever suggest anything improper to you in your method of bookkeeping?" queried Atty. Chester T. Steadman, counsel for La Place.

"No," answered Miss Foster.

"Did he ever suggest the concealment of any transaction on your books?"

"No," replied the witness.

500 AT DANCE OF TIPPERARYS

FOUR DEATHS ON SHIP LAID TO MALARIA

Cherbourg, France, April 24 (AP)—The steamship Duchess of Atholl, homeward bound after a four months' world cruise, arrived at Cherbourg today saddened by the deaths of four passengers, all Americans, who succumbed aboard ship a little over three weeks ago.

Malignant malaria, attributed to insect bites during an overland trip in Africa, was held responsible for the deaths.

Although some of the other passengers suffered from the same fever, three of them severely, the whole ship's company was in good health when the liner called at Cherbourg, where 100 of 298 passengers disembarked.

Some of these had exciting stories to tell of being marooned without food and water and drenched to the skin for 18 hours in Krueger National Park, where their party was trapped by a sudden rise of two rivers. Three of the four passengers who died were members of this overland party as were two of three others who fell seriously ill. Some of those who escaped favor told of climbing trees in the park through fear of roving animals.

According to the ship's commander, Capt. E. Griffiths, and Chief Surgeon E. W. Drury, the seven passengers who ran high fevers were infected on trips in Africa.

Previously two members of the crew had died, one off the coast of Brazil of heart disease and the other at sea of a disease of the liver.

VESTRIS HAD BIG OVERLOAD

London, April 24 (AP)—The ill-fated Lamport & Holt liner Vestris left New York on her last fatal voyage in November seven and one-quarter inches below her load lines, Harry Wheeler, chief superintendent for Sanderson & Sons, New York agents for Lamport & Holt, testified today at the British board of trade inquiry into the vessel's sinking.

Wheeler said he had expected the captain of the Vestris would remedy this overloading before going to sea by pumping out 400 tons of water. Mr. Wheeler admitted, however, that pumping out the water had ben left entirely to the captain.

Former Hub Pastor Dies in New York

Watertown, N. Y., April 24 (INS)—The Rev. S. Edmund Breen, pastor of St. James United Presbyterian Church, Brooklyn, died in the Mercy Hospital here today. Rev. Breen was a native of Sackets Harbor, Mass., and had received degrees at Amherst, Oberlin and Boston University. For twenty years he was a pastor in Boston and Cambridge.

City Council Seeks Hearings on Bridges

Boston City Council today petitioned the Public Utilities Commission for public hearings on the proposed alterations of Shawmut ave. bridge, over the tracks of the New Haven and Boston & Albany roads, and on the Albany st. bridge over the Albany road's tracks.

Milton Protests Cancelling Trains

The proposed discontinuance by the New Haven road of the 9:15 p. m. and 11:21 p. m. trains out of Boston to Milton was protested to the Public Utilities Commission today by the selectmen of that town through the filing of a petition. A public hearing has been set for May 7.

Shipstead in Relapse

Washington, April 24 (INS)—Suffering a severe relapse of influenza which first attacked him in January, Senator Shipstead (F. L.) today was taken to Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore.

BIG ICEBERGS ENDANGER THE CEDRIC

New York, April 24 (AP)—Steamship lines today notified all their vessels now in the North Atlantic to swing to the extreme southerly lane to avoid dangerous ice fields which, several hundred miles south of where they are supposed to be at this time of the year, are now menacing shipping off the Grand Banks.

After a dangerous journey through the ice, at times passing so close to big bergs that the passengers, entirely unaware of the danger they were in, amused themselves by throwing bread to the seals, the White Star liner Cedric arrived today.

The passengers were not worried, but their captain for nearly 14 hours didn't leave the bridge nor relax for a minute.

From 12:30 p. m., Thursday, until 6 a. m., Friday, Captain Hume said, giant bergs, hummocks and growlers menaced the Cedric from every side, a drifting fog adding to the danger. When he saw a clear patch before him, he would order full speed ahead only to come to a dead stop a few minutes later as a huge berg would loom out of the fog. Capt. Hume said the Cunard liner Antonia radioed him that she also had experienced great difficulty.

ARMY TO OPEN HOUSING BIDS

Washington, April 24 (INS)—Bids for completion of about one-fourth of the army housing program for approximately $12,000,000 of construction will be opened within the next fe wmonths, the War Department announced.

The program covers army posts throughout the United States and in Porto Rico.

The projects on which the bids are to be asked locally include Camp Devens, Mass., bids totalling $455,000.

Diet the menace of Hollywood

Stars wrecked seeking slimness

PHOTOPLAY MAGAZINE recently revealed that many motion-picture stars ruin their health seeking slimness. The motion-picture camera adds from 5 to 20 pounds to the appearance of a star's figure, so that many of these celebrities become victims of dieting.

One famous star died of tuberculosis brought on by weight reduction. Another ruined her career and was made an invalid by starvation. Still another resorted to quick reducing medicines and is today virtually an invalid. Another star is mentioned who collapsed on a set after trying to lose 10 pounds.

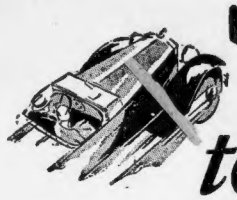
One of the alarming dieting extremes indulged in by the stars, according to Photoplay, is eating no food at all for breakfast, and serious limiting nourishing foods for both luncheon and dinner.

No person can be healthy without eating enough nourishing food daily and regularly. The tragic experience of motion-picture stars should be a warning to all women and girls to eat enough.

Modern health authorities insist on a variety of foods, including milk, vegetables, fruits and meats. It is a dieting error to suggest eliminating sugar from the diet, for sweetness is the perfect flavor that makes all of the healthful foods so delicious. Serve applesauce, grapefruit, dried and canned fruits and cereals for breakfast sweetened for enjoyment. Learn the value of sweetening in the cooking of all vegetables for delicious flavors. Sweetening improves the taste and flavor of fruits and cereals. Sugar and flavoring make delicious milk-shakes and egg-nogs.

See that every member of your family eats enough. The best cooks are generous with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

Now- Shell comes to New England



Through crowded city streets and over the highways of the nation, SHELL GASOLINE and SHELL MOTOR OIL have made enviable reputations for better motor car performance.

Shell has come to New England. The same products which have gained such widespread popularity elsewhere, are now here to give New England motorists a new conception of gasoline and motor oil quality.

There is no chance or accident about that quality. It is the result of complete control of every step in the manufacturing process from crude petroleum to refined product. Shell owns vast producing fields . . . owns great transportation facilities . . . operates its own refineries, which are models for the industry.

Shell's unlimited engineering and research facilities and vast financial resources are brought to New England by Shell Eastern Petroleum Products, Inc., Boston—a new company which is distinctly of and for New England, serving New England motorists, employing New England men and women, and taking its full share in the development of New England industry.

STOP AT THE SIGN OF THE SHELL

There's a Shell yellow and red service station near you, marked by the Shell sign . . . A trained, courteous representative will supply your motor needs with exact understanding of what SHELL GASOLINE and SHELL MOTOR OIL your engine requires in order to give you the greatest economy and utmost satisfaction.

Shell 400 "Extra Dry" Gasoline—A clean, hard hitting motor fuel that burns completely because it's "extra dry." Refined to specifications accepted by the petroleum industry for gasoline of extra high quality . . . Ought to cost more, but it doesn't.

Super-Shell Gasoline—The quick-starting, natural anti-knock motor fuel. Developed especially to meet the requirements of the high compression motor. Makes older cars perform like colts. Costs a few cents more—and well worth it.

Shell Motor Oil—The only motor oil possessing the four essentials of complete and proper lubrication: Low Carbon Content, Non-Fouling Nature of Carbon, Ideal Body at all Operating Temperatures, and Low Pour Point.

Shell Fuel Oil—High in heat value—low in carbon. Economical. Completely measures up to rigid Shell standards of uniform quality. Talk to the Shell representative before signing your next fuel contract.

Hint 3 Royal Weddings

Hendaye, French-Spanish Border, April 24—Romance has captured the Spanish court, according to re- ports here which said rumors of plans for three royal marriages had neither been confirmed nor de- nied.

The report current last week that Crown Prince Asturies would marry Princess Cecilia of Saim Saim con- tinued. It also was said the Infan- ta Beatrice might become the bride of Prince Alvaro of Orleans, eldest son of the Infante Alphonse and Princess Beatrix of Saxe-Co- burg-Gotha. The prince is Spanish and 19 years old.

This third rumor concerned the Infants Christina and the Spanish prince, Carlos of Bourbon-Orleans, 21-year-old son of the Infants Car- los and Marie Louise of Orleans.

Statue of Fat Woman Doomed Because Style Changes

Berlin, April 24 (INS)—The "Berolina," a bronze statue of a woman of ample proportions which once stood in the Alexan- derplatz as the symbol of Berlin, will be melted down because her figure is too fat for modern taste.

The statue has been removed because of building operations and the Berlin City Council has just decided not to restore the statue on account of "artistic con- siderations."

FLAG JURIES TO MEET IN WEEK OF MAY 6

Preparations are being made for formation of the Regional Juries of Award to meet during the week of May 6 to May 11 in Boston for the reception of the papers of the local flag unit winners.

It is therefore necessary for the supervising heads of local flag units throughout the New England States, who are participating in his patriotic contest being con- ducted by the United States Flag Association, to forward to the Flag Contest Editor, registered mail, the winners' papers within 48 hours after the awarding of the "Old Glory" medals and "Honor- able Mentions."

The Flag Board at Large, under the direction of George L. McDer- mott of 100 Peterborough st., Back Bay, completed its examination of papers from the boys and girls now enrolled in this unit from the various New England States.

Notifications will be sent within a day or two to lucky boys and girls to appear at a date to be an- nounced later for final examination and notation of their essays.

Local unit heads are also warned, now that the contest has reached the stage when it is neces- sary to examine the contestants' papers, that the age of the con- testants be carefully investigated.

DIRE EVILS OF PROHIBITION REVEALED

The Hearst newspapers begin to- day the presentation of a series of astounding articles on the history of prohibition and the rampant corruption and crime it has brought into being in 10 years throughout the nation. These articles are written by an expert, H. G. Shel- don, of Providence, R. I., for five years State director for Rhode Island of federal prohibition en- forcement.

By H. G. SHELDON

Former State Director of Prohibi- tion Enforcement for R. I.

Prohibition, in theory perhaps, as a means to temperance, may be ideal. In practical results it is im- possible. It has utterly failed after 10 years of experiment even to be- gin to accomplish the desired ends.

Naturally, with the prominence of the large properties given over to manufacture in pre-war times, it was comparatively easy immedi- ately after prohibition, to keep a close watch on illegal output, es- pecially so in the matter of distil- leries.

Good, except for one thing. While theoretically no goods were pushed out after prohibition, really the il- legal shipments were tremendous.

"Alky" has always brought big money. And one of the first men- aces of the liquor game was the still.

Somebody discovered that certain of the specially denatured alcohol formulas could be redistilled, and the larger part of the denaturing removed so much in fact, that only a mere trace was to be found un- der careful chemical analysis.

Such a killing! The bootlegger pays 95 cents a gallon and it costs him 25 cent a gallon to redistill. Then he sells it for $3.50 to $6, de- pending on the market.

Yet large numbers of unethical doctors use their allowances and clamor for more. They sell them for $100 or $150 or even $200 per book to proprietors of speakeasies, bar-keeps or bootleggers in general, who cash them in.

CUBA & PORTO RICO CALLING ME

FOR USED AMERICAN PIANOS

I will take your piano in exchange for my late style electric radio or my new, up-to-date uprights, grands or players. If your piano is silent in your home and you want the latest music over the air, here is your opportunity to have a foreign country come to your rescue. It is not a Ponzi exchange of money orders for American gold, but a real honest, fair exchange between three parties; the countries involved, the present owner of a Used Piano and myself.

Remember They Are Hungry for American Used Pianos
So I Can Now Give You a Bigger Allowance on Your Used Piano

I have a real buyer for your piano and you will become a real buyer with very little money or perhaps no money at all for the new, all electric radio set or the late 1929 upright, grand or player. I am the middle man that will bring about the results without charging you a penny for my time. I expect to have Cuba and Porto Rico pay the bill.

FRANCESCA BRAGGIOTTI QUITS CAREER

Repertory Theater Performance to Be Her Last

FRANCESCA BRAGGIOTTI is to write finis to her brilliant professional dancing career in Boston on May 17, when her "swan song" will be featured by more personal appearances than in any previous annual recital. One more brilliant Terpsichorean spectacle in Repertory Theater and then Prince Charming, in the person of John D. Lodge, will carry off the famous artiste, whose "Fragrance" dance of a past recital inspired the late Amy Lowell to poetry on that theme. This number is to be repeated this year by special request.

WHILE FORMAL ANNOUNCEMENTS have not yet been issued for the wedding, rumor has it that the ceremony will take place in July, the honeymoon will be in Europe, and the new home to be established in New York in the autumn. No plans have been made beyond the honeymoon, nor has Miss Gloria decided the future of the Braggiotti-Denishawn School of Dancing, to which she falls heir after the Lohengrin march.

FOR SEVEN YEARS THE ANNUAL Braggiotti recitals have delighted Boston dance lovers, and joy in the future happiness of "Cesca" is naturally tinged with regret in the announcement of her final appearance. A cherished institution such she has become in the social life of Boston may not be relinquished without many a sigh. For this reason Francesca compensates in a measure, with an especially elaborate recital in two parts with five themes.

WITH GLORIA SHE IS TO give "Sisters," a dance personifying the spirit of lilies and a musical tribute to their grandfather, Sebastian Schlesinger. A new dance, "Diane," a Spanish interpretation and a waltz in her grandmother's gown are jotted down on the unfinished program. Gloria is to appear in a plastique "Vision D'Amber" and a Red Indian dance in original costume. Rama, their brother, also appears with banjo in one number.

SURROUNDED BY HER classes of adoring little buds-to-be, Miss Braggiotti is to demonstrate her dance technique early in the program, in fairyland setting. Young hopefuls, masquerading as doves, gypsies, cockleshells and Mother Goose characters, are daily struggling to fold gauzy wings with Braggiotti grace. Elsie and Cynthia Sortwell as Sleeping Beauty and the Prince, Dorothy Chase and Rosamond Higgins as Jack and Gill, Janet Gray as Jack-in-the-box, and Jean Ferguson as The Doll are featured in this ensemble.

VIRGINIA RICE, FRESH FROM practise on Riviera tennis courts, offers a novelty dance, and four Vincent Club members, Polly Winslow, Agnes Boardman, Betty Pope and Constance Harper, are to do others. Edith Parker leads the military tappers Miriam Winslow, in a Javanese offering, also moves with plastique ease with Agnes Boardman, Beatrice Allen, Olive Cousins as coral in an undersea scene, where Mary Elizabeth Soars is an oyster, if you please. Cora Lyman and Nancy Hallowell are foam in this gorgeous scene.

PRISCILLA AND VIRGINIA PHELAN, younger sisters of Miss Caroline Phelan, whose engagement to Joseph Norton was recently announced, are in the buck dance group with Leslie Blake, making the debut of jazz among the adolescents. Nina Phillips and Louise Stevens as Dutch girls, Frances Boardman and others contribute to a program of 60 odd numbers with 200 performers.

HAVING SET IN ORDER HIS country place, "Beclive," near Dublin in the Emerald Isle, Charles Sumner Bird, 2d, returned to pack his mother, Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, and her sister, Miss Marian E. Child, off on the Rotterdam, sailing on May 11. With a house party of friends they will spend June at this spacious country estate. It has been leased to Francesca Braggiotti, dancing favorite of Boston, soon is to forsake the art of terpsichore for matrimony. As Mrs. John D. Lodge, Miss Braggiotti will take up residence in New York next fall after a honeymoon spent in Europe. On her sister, Gloria, will devolve the direction of the Braggiotti-Denishawn School.

ECSTATIC SIGHS FROM A CAPACITY audience of Elizabeth Peabody Settlement children followed the fortunes of "Snow White" through its first performance by the Junior League players at the Settlement Playhouse. From a cast of excellent players it was hard to choose a favorite and so the honors were heaped upon them all. Paid performances begin Friday afternoon.

NEW YORK AND ALTAR bound, Sargent Bradlee departed today for the final arrangements for his marriage on Friday to Miss Louise Tripp, daughter of Mrs. Charles White Tripp, at the Hotel Ambassador. Other members of the Bradlee clan are busily completing plans for the event.

SIMPLE ELEGANCE MARKS the engraved invitations sent out by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lambert Rantoul for the marriage of their daughter, Mabel Lowell, to Richard Lyon Dewditch. Inscribed thereon is Saturday, May 11, at 3:30 o'clock, in Emmanuel Church. Via mail comes news of the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. William Almy, Jr., Mrs. William C. Gray of Dedham, Mr. and Mrs. Grafton Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Pierpont L. Stackpole at the Ambassador in New York, presumably for the Tripp-Bradlee nuptials on Friday.

BOSTON PICKED BY YALE FOR CHILD STUDY

The Judge Baker Foundation in Boston has been chosen by the Institute of Human Relations at Yale University as one of its centers for research work.

This great tribute is in recognition of the value of the work done under the able leadership of Dr. William Healy and Dr. Augusta Bronner, pioneers in the study of behavior problems.

The co-operation of the juvenile court under Judge Frederick P. Cabot and the work of the various child-placing agencies of this city, are further reasons why Boston was selected.

One unit, consisting of a psychiatrist, two psychologists and a social worker is being sent from Yale to study under Dr. Healy for a period of five years.

Dr. Edwin F. Gildea, a graduate of Harvard Medical School, who at present is working under the direction of Dr. Stanley Cobb on experimental neurology, is the psychiatrist in charge of this unit.

In making the announcement, President Dr. James R. Angell of Yale said, in part:

"The juvenile courts are crowded with cases of which adequate understanding is impossible without a study of the family to which the victim belongs. It is already clear that many circumstances combine to create juvenile delinquency. A more thorough study, as well as an evaluation of the remedies now prescribed by law, are indispensable if we are to make progress."

Irish Associations Will Celebrate

The monthly meeting of the Central Council of Irish County Associations of Greater Boston will be held in John Boyle O'Reilly hall, Hibernian building, Roxbury, Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Business will include plans for celebrating the 100th anniversary of Catholic emancipation in Ireland.

Tunney and Shaw Go Sun-Bathing on Sands of Adriatic Isle

Pola, Italy, April 24 (AP)—Colorful accounts of Gene Tunney and George Bernard Shaw sun-bathing together have reached here from Brioni, Adriatic Isle, which both happen to be visiting just now.

The favorite exercise of both of the celebrities is swimming. Following a cold shower each morning, the former world's heavyweight champion and the Irish playwright glide easily through the water for long distances, Shaw, despite his 73 years and flowing white beard, being an excellent swimmer.

A favorite turn to their exercise is to cease all muscular effort and float, faces upturned to the warm sun, taking life as easily and placidly as the isle itself. The sun baths on the beach, with the sand sometimes piled high about them, follow the excursions into the water.

Swimming done, the two take long walks, the white-haired old man keeping in perfect step with the broad-shouldered young husky who once wore pugilism's crown. In the course of these walks they have visited the old Roman ruins and the Roman church, carrying on an animated conversation as they walked about them.

In the evening Shaw and Tunney invariably dined together, but neither in the dining room nor in their walks has anyone been able to approach closely enough to ascertain just what the topics of their conversations are. So close is the association of the two that Shaw's apartment at the Hotel Nettuno adjoins that of Tunney.

Dr. Work Off to London

Washington April 24 (AP)—Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican national committee, will sail from New York tonight for London as delegate to the fifth international congress on military medicine and pharmacy. He is a colonel in the Medical Officers Reserve Corps.

AMERICAN BUYS $250,000 ART

London, April 24 (INS)—Howard Young, New York art dealer, has purchased from the Duke of Sutherland the original Romney portrait of Elizabeth Duchess of Sutherland, according to the Evening Standard today. The price is believed to be in the neighborhood of $250,000.

Young acted for Lawrence P. Fisher of Detroit, automobile manufacturer, in the purchase of a supposed Romney portrait of the Duchess of Sutherland at the beginning of the year. The picture was returned to London, but the mystery regarding its purchase and return has never been cleared up.

Granite State Is Boomed on Radio

New York, April 24—The features of New Hampshire and an invitation to visit it during the coming summer were broadcast to the nation by Governor Charles W. Tobey of that state, in the first of a series of programs on New England as a vacation land. Governor Tobey spoke from the National Broadcasting studio. Governors of other New England States will broadcast later.

Today, in the real estate columns of the Classified Ads, you will find scores of opportunities for profitable investment.

Irene Castle 'Rent a Pup' Plan in Court

Chicago, April 24 (AP)—The "rent-a-pup" plan of Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin for rehabilitating dogs of humble estate is to have its legal status determined.

It is Mrs. McLaughlin's contention that in accepting money in exchange for a dog the transaction is not an outright sale, but a sort of lease, if the dog is not properly cared for—and it is proper care for the animals that Mrs. McLaughlin primarily hopes to obtain—she believes she is in a legal position to reclaim it.

Mrs. McLaughlin has complained that Irving D. Hopkins, who purchased—or leased—a dog, traded the animal to a dog store for a puppy, this sub-leasing of the dog, as Mrs. McLaughlin interprets it to be, is not in keeping with her intention for the dog's welfare.

4 RULERS SEND FLOWERS FOR DEAD PRINCE

Hemmelmark, Germany, April 24 (INS)—Three kings, a queen and a former emperor sent wreaths for the funeral of Prince Henry of Prussia, only brother of the ex-Kaiser, here today.

The former Kaiser was absent, but he sent a wreath inscribed: "To my beloved brother."

President Von Hindenburg sent a wreath of white roses. Embassy representatives presented floral tributes in the names of King George of England, King Christian X of Denmark, King Gustav V of Sweden and Queen Wilhelmina of Holland.

Among the 30 members of royalty present was the Crown Princess of Sweden.

The domestic help problem is solved by taking a kitchenette apartment and the best are advertised daily in the For Rent column.

$750,000,000 Spent Yearly by Girls for Cosmetics

"Where for every dollar given in the United States for the promotion of the work of the churches, $39 is spent for luxuries," stated Rev. Raymond J. Fleming at the headquarters of the Methodists, Boylston st., today.

"Peachy complexion cosmetics cost the fair sex $750,000,000 in one year. We would allow $500,000,000 to beautify the women who really need it, but with the balance pay all expenses of all the churches in America, including missionary giving for six months."

Warn Persia to Keep Out of Afghanistan

Washington, April 24 (AP)—Frederick W. B. Coleman, American minister at Riga, has informed the State Department that according to an article in Izvestia, the Soviet government's official newspaper in Moscow, Persia has been warned of "the gravest consequences" to follow any aggressive acts in Afghanistan.

'QUEEN COD' OF BOSTON GIVEN TO HOOVER

Washington, April 24 (INS)—President Hoover today received a huge codfish, described as "Queen of the Boston catch," from Boston men completing the first leg of the Chamber of Commerce land cruise to the Pacific coast and return.

Henry I. Harriman, president of the Chamber, told Mr. Hoover the cod was a gift from "the world's most famous fisherman—the world's most famous fisherman," and symbolized the sacred cod of Massachusetts.

Following the reception at the White House, the Boston group and the Massachusetts congressional delegation were entertained at lunch by President Butterworth of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Harriman explained the purpose of the "land cruise" was to enable Boston business men to meet executives in other parts of the country, observe business and manufacturing conditions and "explain New England to the South and West."

New French Cruiser Is Named for Foch

Brest, France, April 24 (INS)—The magic name of Foch, that carried the allied armies to victory in 1918, today went down to the sea on the bow of a 10,000-ton cruiser. The launching of this man-of-war brings France's navy to virtually her pre-war strength.

Vice Foch was to have christened the cruiser, but at the last moment she asked to be excused.

29 More Rescued

Tokyo, April 24 (AP)—Twenty-nine more survivors of the steamer Toyko Kuni Maru, which sank off southern Hokkaido, were rescued today by vessels searching the section.

"PRINCE" GOES COURTING

Mary Eustes makes a charming Prince Florimond, and Peggy Rend a demure Snow White. They are two of the society girls in the cast of the play, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," presented today by the Junior League at the Elizabeth House on Charles st.

2 MURDERS, 2 BOMBINGS IN GANG WAR

Cleveland, O., April 24 (AP)—Defiant gangsters today opened a war of revenge on police and at the same time split in fatal hostility among themselves according to Detective Chief Cornelius Cody.

Dynamite bombs exploded at the home of Police Capt. William A. McMasters and at the recent residence of Sergt Patrick J. Holland. Shortly afterwards two men, tentatively identified as "Skinny" Fuerstman and Isadore Shiller, were shot to death in what police said was an upheaval of enmity between rival bootleggers.

The bomb explosions injured no one, but at the McMasters home part of the porch was torn away and all windows in the neighborhood were shattered. Mrs. McMasters and two children, William, Jr., nine, and Ruth three, were severely shaken.

At the former Holland home frame porches were ripped off, windows broken and occupants hurled from their beds.

Fuerstman and Shiller were "taken for a ride" and dumped from the killers' automobile in typical gangster style.

"Silence is Golden" is truly spoken of Classified Want Ads—no noise, but they make a lot of stir—called Results.

Spring Will Tarry a Day

Benign southwest winds, which today elevated the mercury from 47 above at 8 o'clock to 62 above at 10 o'clock, are slated to keep Greater Boston comfortably warm for the next 36 hours.

The storm threat which appeared yesterday in the Far West has moved to western Nebraska accompanied by heavy rains, and is expected to precipitate some April showers hereabouts by tomorrow night.

DINE AND DANCE

DAVE MACK AT PALAIS D'OR

Dave Mack, now master of ceremonies at the Palais D'Or, is well known to the habitues of New York night clubs, having been an entertainer there for a number of years.

Manager Steve Hung, with the help of Jimmy Gallagher, has secured, at a tremendous expense, the De luxe Revue, direct from the Cafe de Sainte-Sien, Chicago, which is giving three performances daily this week. Probably the biggest night, according to Steve Hung, will be observed tonight. Thursday night is Surprise night, and offers something novel. Friday night is Balloon night, Jimmy Gallagher and his "still hanging on" orchestra aren't losing their grip on the red hot music.

Cardinal and Pilgrims Land on Azores for Day's Tour

tenders beginning the work of transferring passengers at 10 o'clock, Boston time. The last will have returned to the ship at 6 o'clock and the Presidents Wilson will sail for Gibraltar at 6:30.

It is a beautiful day, sunny, but not too warm, and the members of the pilgrimage are determined to make the best of it, with trips and general sightseeing. The Rt. Rev. Mgr. Joseph McGlinchey of Lynn is acting as guide and personal director of several excursions.

All the members of the pilgrimage are in the best of health and spirits and enjoying the trip immensely.

The first postal cards, which went into the mails at once, were sold to us by a Portuguese from Cambridge, Mass., who has returned to this paradise to spend his declining years.

The books describe the Azores as an "introduction to the Old World, but to the man from southern New England these islands are old friends.

They constitute a little world of their own, a little world in nine islands, set in three distinct groups in the waters of the Atlantic about 900 miles off the coast of Portugal.

This Ponta Delgada is their chief city—and it might just as well be called "East New Bedford" or "East Providence, R. I."

For, as they very well know in Bristol County, Massachusetts, one-fourth of all the Azoreans in the world are residents of the U. S. A.

Here on the nine islands they number 300,000.

There are 100,000 of them in the United States.

WHENCE THEY DEPARTED.

Most of them sailed from Ponta Delgada, capital city of the island of St. Michael's. There are 35,000 of them in California. Most of the others reside in New Bedford and Providence.

I can understand the Azorean who is transplanted in California, but I am blest if I can imagine the explanation the others can make for quitting what we see here for one of the great industrial centers of the Eastern United States.

We have been told today that the well-to-do among the emigrants come back, some of them to stay, most of them on visits.

Why one of them does not invest his roll in a big resort hotel here—I imagine the race track and casino privileges could be "negotiated"—is a bit of a puzzle.

This place has every right to be established as the summer and winter resort of the world. The highest and the lowest temperatures on record are 85 and 45 degrees. Ask any high-grade ad. writer what he could do with that fact for a beginning.

It is a simple and healthful life they live here and if any great number of them find it difficult to sleep o' nights, because no one knows the minute a submerged volcano may give nasty indications of bad temper, there is no sign of it in their happy countenances.

RED WINE IS CHEAP

A mere stepping-off place for travelers from the United States to Southern Europe, Ponta Delgada has no complaint. Testimony to the volcanic character of the Islands is visible all around us; in the black rocks along the shore; in houses built of the same.

I had heard a-lot, from some of the younger officers of the ship, about a glorious red wine—vinho de cheiro—which is sold on a basis reminiscent of our 5 and 10-cent stores. They tell me you can buy a liter of it for a few cents.

I have not looked into the matter nor do I intend to, for so far as I am concerned the Constitution follows the citizen. But I will say this: I have seen no Ponta Delgadan "under the influence."

If there were time, I should like to inquire into their way of living, how they keep on. The evidence is that there is a smashing business in pineapples and oranges and that the manufacture of this red wine is an industry second to none other.

NO SCANDALS THERE

But not very much happens. The newspapers, if any, get out no "extras." There are no scandals, in high life or low. The islands were discovered in 1432, Columbus stopped off 61 years later on his return trip, and after that very little transpired until, ten years ago, American naval officers landed in the seaplane NC-4.

Everyone who has ever written a line from Ponta Delgada has said something about the pink and blue and white houses, set low in a great semicircle of hills.

It is quite likely that the physical aspect of the place has changed but little since Chris Colombo came, in 1493, with his strange tale of the discovery of a New World.

I should like to know how the Azoreans of that day received that story. They tapped their heads, I suppose, and perhaps they uttered the Portuguese equivalent of "cuckoo." 'Twas ever thus.

"FORTUNATE ISLANDS"

And that reminds me that there ought to be at least a modicum of information in these Tales of a Traveler. I had supposed the Azores to be a Portuguese "colony," standing somewhat in the same relation to the Mother Country as that of the Philippine Islands to the United States.

Wrong, again. The Azores are an integral part of Portugal. Each of the islands sends its elected representatives to Lisbon.

They are Fortunate Islands and I, for one, shall be leaving them reluctantly, hoping one day to come back by my lonesome and get truly acquainted.

Meanwhile, a message to Providence and New Bedford: "All at home here are well. Why don't you write?"

HART'S EX-WIFE IN COMEBACK TO FILMS

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

(Copyright, 1929, by Universal Service, in NEW YORK, April 24—To put it mildly and diplomatically, when Fannie Hurst and Herbert Branon decided that Winifred Westover, the ex-wife of W. S. Hart, was the ideal one to play the leading role in "Lummox," there was a sensation in Hollywood. Miss Westover had been off the screen for some years, and although her loss friends knew she yearned to return, there never seemed a place for her Hart was bitterly opposed to her using the name Hart—in fact he was opposed to her returning to the films in any way.

But Miss Westover was determined and there is no way of coping with a determined woman.

Branon and Miss Hurst promised another surprise when the name of the leading man was made public. I am not so sure it is as much as a sensation, but it is interesting. He is Leroy Mason, bridegroom of Rita Carroll and discovered by her director parent, Edwin Carewe. At least most signs indicate that Mason will get the role.

Betty Compson and James Cruze were separated for about a day when Betty decided that Jim might have his faults but there are worse husbands in the world. Jim decided the same way, with the result that Mrs. Cruze is now back home in Flintridge playing hostess to the famous Sunday night parties held there for years. Cruze is taking his production of pictures most seriously. He has just decided to make a musical comedy with Hugh Herbert writing part of the story and Arthur Hammerstein agreeing to book the show. What is more, Maurice Russell will stage the dances.

MERVYN LEROY is about ready to break down and weep. He did so want to play little Johnny Jones, but Jack Warner did not believe it was possible for him to direct the part and act at the same time, so Eddie Boyd, who played in "Lady Fingers" in New York, will be signed and sent to the coast for the part. Either just next time, Mervyn, because we believe that he is almost as good an actor as he is a director, and we don't mean anything mean in that.

MAYOR JAMES WALKER has whispered confidentially that he is all set to perform the ceremony that will unite his pal, William Seaman, to Phyllis Haver. The popular mayor was invited to come to Hollywood and marry Townsend Netcher to Constance Talmadge "We really want you, Mr Mayor," said Townsend, "to marry us," but unfortunately a matter of 3000 miles will intervene. Townsend returns to Hollywood on May 2, and with him will go an entire set of silver, the wedding present of his brother and sister-in-law. This will be a part of the Talmadge-Netcher household. Jimmy Walker is so popular in Hollywood that it wouldn't surprise me to see all the film stars starting East to have him marry them.

WILLIAM BOYD of the stage and will have to have some distinguishing handle put to his name to differentiate him from the William Boyd of the movies. The stage Boyd has been added to the cast of "The Locked Door," the George Fitzmaurice production, and maybe you think it isn't confusing on the United Artists lot when the two boys are mentioned. Both Boyds played opposite Louis Wolheim, William Boyd of stage fame in "What Price Glory," and the William Boyd of screen fame in "Two Arabian Nights." Now what are you going to do in a case like this? Harry Stubbs, who had a role in "Alibi," will play a waiter-detective in "The Locked Door." Betty Compson, who is back with her husband, James Cruze, again he also been added to the cast

THERE is no limit to the ambitions of these movie folk. They would rob the stage and the concert platform of every star and every singer for the benefit of the talkies. Winfield Sheehan, who has been an admirer of John McCormack for a long time, has induced the Irish singer to make a picture. The contract is said to guarantee $500,000 for one feature picture in which he will sing and act. McCormack, who goes to Ireland every summer, has expressed a preference to make his movie in Ireland, and even that is not daunting the Fox company.

SNAPSHOTS of Hollywood collected at random by an observer: Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford dining at the Double Headed Eagle with Sam Taylor, their director. Charlie Chaplin and Harry Crocker at the same place Patsy Ruth Miller giving the Montmartre lunchers a treat by appearing in a new sun-tan makeup. Laura La Plante in a costumary disguise of horn-rimmed glasses lunching at the same place. Janet Gaynor taking a golf lesson. Harry Cohn visiting Henry's at 3 o'clock in the morning. Belle Bennett appearing in a nifty white coat and lace hat. That's all today. See you tomorrow

Banton Will Not Ban Passion Play

New York, April 24 (AP)—Presentation here of the Freiberg Passion Play, which has caused some protests, will not be interfered with by District Attorney Banton, he said today

If the police should make arrests, however, he said he would prosecute under a State law which prohibits the personification of the deity on the stage by a living person. The play is scheduled to open Monday and is being presented by Morris Gest in association with David Belasco.

NEW CHAIN FEATURE

TONIGHT brings a new chain feature to the air with the A. R. A. Riviaiers. The program is sponsored by the American Bankers' Association whose most conspicuous activity is the issuance of travelers' checks through associated banks throughout the world. Its first program, which will be aired through WBZ and other stations of the N. B. C., is entirely Germanic and possibly germane to its purposes of the broadcast. A band, an octette and soloists will supply the melodies commencing at 10 of the clock.

$60 Fine for Milk Sale

A representative of the St. Regis Co. on Essex st., in municipal court today paid fines of $50 and $10 after the corporation was found guilty of selling milk with 12 per cent added water, and milk below standard.

BREAK GROUND FOR NEW WEEI PLANT

By FRED TOYE
Radio Editor

GROUND was broken today for the start in construction of WEEI's new transmitter at the Weymouth Edison plant. The new apparatus will be the latest word in Western Electric equipment, with operating power of 1000 watts Central control will be installed at the present WEEI Boston studios, which will continue as the main seat of operations for the station all programs, whether of studio origin or from outside pick-up points, will be brought by wire to the main studios on Boylston st, and from there sent to the Weymouth transmitter. The equipment at Weymouth will consist of the operating shack, antenna towers and transmitter. There will be no studio facilities at that point. Chain programs as well as those of local origin will be handled by the operators in Boston. Officials of the station expect to have their new equipment in operation by July 1.

SESSION 'HOLDS EVERYTHING' BUT FARM AID

Washington, April 24 (AP)—Immigration, prohibition, flood relief and the host of other proposals pushed before the Senate in the early days of the extra session have settled behind the administration's restricted program now underway and face a doubtful future.

Farm relief, which reached the amendment stage in the House today, has first place on the administration program in the Senate. How long this debate will run is problematical. After it ends the administration bills for the 1930 census and reapportionment of the House will be awaiting action.

Defeated in their first test, President Hoover's supporters in opposition to the national origins provision of the immigration law were look ng ahead today to the conclusion of the farm debate before renewing their battle for repeal.

Range of Dog's Bark Would Limit Estate

Washington, April 24 (AP)—J. E. Barlow's dream of obtaining Cuban estates "extending as far as a dog's barking can be heard," according to a royal grant, became more vague today as Ambassador Ferrara of Cuba asked his government to exclude Barlow from the country. Barlow, an American, is in Washington seeking help to gain recognition of his claim on Cuban property worth, he says, $8,000,000, and for which claim, Cubans say, he paid $300

Add to Night Patrol Force in Quincy

Nearly a score of house breaks in the Wollaston and North Dowrs districts of Quincy have caused authorities to add police officers to the night patrol

A police automobile will tour the streets of the residential district and additional patrolmen will be sent into the districts

Patriots Aid 'Ironsides'

Work of reconstructing "Old Ironsides" at the navy yard, which it was feared would lag because of insufficient funds, received fresh impetus today when it was learned patriotic organizations are sponsoring a bill in Congress to provide money for the project

The frigate Constitution which is being rebuilt with contributions collected by children and thro gh sale of pictures, was inspected yesterday by Secretary of the Navy Adams.

The expense of procuring seasoned timbers for the old craft has proved great, and funds raised were found insufficient.

Representative Boylan, Democrat, of New York, has introduced in Congress a bill authorizing expenditure of $300,000 for refitting "Old Ironsides." Thirty-eight organizations are sponsoring it.

PASSING OF AL SMITH SEEN BY NEW TAMMANY

New York, April 24 (AP) Selection of John F. Curry, an opponent of Alfred E Smith, as head of Tammany Hall, was interpreted by newspapers today as marking the passing of the influence of the former governor

The election of Curry, a district leader, to succeed George V. Olvany, resigned, also was described as a victory for Mayor James A. Walker which has established him as the dominating influence in Tammany, with his re-election assured

Fiftieth Anniversary

to this heat-controlled closed-top Insulated Glenwood of 1929

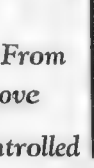
THE housewife of today expects both comfort and convenience from her range—especially if it's a Glenwood Gas Range.

Since the introduction of Glenwood Oven Insulation and the Glenwood AutomatiCook, she knows she can have a cool kitchen in summer and leave all her clock-watching to an automatically regulated oven, which cooks an entire meal for her exactly right while she is free to go out for the afternoon.

Now she has the new OurWay cooking top—with a surface as smooth as a table to move pots and pans on, and an enclosed burner chamber that makes four burners do the work of six.

Heavy smooth enamel makes the inside of the oven and broiler easy to keep clean and sweet . . . just as the outside of the range is kept clean with a damp cloth.

Have you seen these features of the Insulated Glenwood? The nearest office of the gas company will be glad to show them to you.



You can enjoy a Glenwood Gas Range even if you live beyond the gas mains. Write us about PEROFAX GAS SERVICE

DO YOU EVER WASH YOUR EYES?

THE WINDOWS OF YOUR SOUL START TODAY WITH

CHENEY'S EYE BATH

The most important organ of the body. The least appreciated. Do you ever wash your eyes? You certainly wash your face 2 or 3 time a day, your body 2 or 3 times a week, but your poor eyes, the expression and beauty of your face, are sadly neglected. The eyes are constantly receiving dust, dirt and germs of disease from the street. What do you do to combat these? Half of the people would not have red, sore, inflamed eyes and lids if the eyes were taken care of. The eyes are harmed more than ever by the present strong flashlights, smoke, smog, dust and traffic. Believe it or not, late wash your eyes at least once a day with Cheney's Eye Bath, a good antiseptic, healing, cleansing eye bath.

YOUNG M'ADOO'S DIVORCED WIFE TO WED AGAIN

Baltimore, Md., April 24 (AP)—Walter Winchester Keith of Baltimore and Mrs. Ethel McCormick McAdoo, divorced wife of Francis Huber McAdoo, have obtained a marriage license at Towson.

Friends said they were expected to be married this week, but Mrs. Isaac E. Emerson, mother of Mrs. McAdoo, intimated no date for the ceremony had been set.

Mrs. McAdoo and the son of the former war secretary, who were married at the Green Spring Valley home of Capt. Emerson, were granted a Paris divorce in November, 1923.

In June, 1927, Mr. McAdoo married Mrs. Mary B. Taylor of New York, divorced wife of Bertram Lord Taylor. Mr. Keith is the son of Mrs. Frances Brown Keith, socially prominent in Maryland and Virginia.

Wales Loses Golf Match

London, April 24 (AP)—The Prince of Wales played a round of golf in a tournament of the household brigade today in 93.

It was his first competitive golf since 1922. It was a scratch event and was won by Maj. G. Cornwallis West with a 2.

36 Students Stabbed in Vienna Rioting

Vienna, April 24 (AP)—A dispatch to the Neus Freie Presse from Lemberg today said 36 students were stabbed and 17 seriously wounded in a battle there last night between Christians and Jews.

A feud which had existed for a long time between the rival sects in the student body had its culmination, the dispatch said, in the sanguinary struggle in a public restaurant, swords, knives and pistols were used freely. The restaurant was demolished.

REFUSE TO BAN WAR BOMBING

Geneva, April 24 (AP)—Germany's proposal for prohibition of aircraft bombing in wartime was rejected today by the Preparatory Commission on Disarmament of the League of Nations. Of 24 national delegations voting, only five supported the project.

However, they later accepted a resolution offered by Nicholas Politis of Greece affirming that they had no intention of authorizing dropping of bombs on civilian populations.

Count von Bernstorff, author of the proposal, said that in a few hours bombing airplanes flying over Paris, Berlin and London could take a toll of half a million victims. The Germans insisted that if this method of warfare was permitted war would become not only more horrible but more cowardly.

Somerville Wife and Baby Vanish

Somerville police today were seeking Mrs. Audrey Henriques, 25-year-old wife of Daniel Henriques of 25 Liberty ave., West Somerville, and her two-year-old daughter Phyllis, disappeared from the home after leaving a note for the husband that he would never see her again.

Henriques told Lieut. Robert T. Kane he went out at 4 o'clock last night returning at 11:45 to find his wife and child missing. He described her as being five feet tall, 130 pounds in weight, of light complexion.

Excellent Bill at Boston Theater

The vaudeville portion of the bill at the Keith-Albee Boston Theater this week is a unit in itself. Harry Rogers All Girl Show is the presentation being offered. It is an intimate and fast moving revue of beautiful girls, twenty-one in number, who hold forth in a whirlwind of music, song and dance.

Individual specialties are offered by Howard and Todd, harmony singers and comedienne. Vera Post, who does a delectable impersonation of the "Bowery Bimbette of London," the eight Rogers Dancers in a classic ensemble, close the Shore sisters, two demons of dance, and the Rogers Novelty Band, an orchestra of eight charming subrettes who flavor the offering with the ultimate in jazz.

Today . . . he might be fired!

AND to think—only a few years ago no one at the office had brighter prospects. Promotion was just a glorious game in those days. And then something happened. He began to slip . . . faster, then farther. Now the office had completely forgotten the man he used to be. Why this very day . . . he might be fired!

Constipation blights many a bright career. It destroys initiative. It weakens the body and paves the way to disease. Yet constipation can be relieved—safely, promptly. It can be prevented! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to give relief—to bring prevention!

100% bran means 100% results

How fortunate that a delicious cereal like ALL-BRAN can do such a wonderful work! Doctors recommend it because it is 100% bran. They know that 100% bran means 100% results. Here is why:

As ALL-BRAN travels through the system, its bulk absorbs moisture. And it gently distends the intestines, purifying, removing wastes and poisons. ALL-BRAN is practically all-bulk—and so can do this work effectively. In a part-bran product the quantity of bulk is not sufficient.

Don't risk dangerous drugs

ALL-BRAN works as nature works. How different from habit-forming pills and drugs whose dose must be constantly increased—and which sometimes definitely injure you. Instead, a healthful, natural cereal. Serve it with milk or cream — and add fruits or honey, if you prefer.

Mix it with other cereals. Put it in soups. Use it in your cookery. Recipes on every package. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily — chronic cases, with every meal. You can do worlds of good for your family if you will see that they eat ALL-BRAN regularly.

But don't risk part-bran substitutes. Insist on Kellogg's — the original ALL-BRAN. At all grocers. Served by hotels, restaurants, cafeterias. On diners. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Guaranteed! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with the definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

The LADY KILLER
SIX-DAY NOVEL

by Robert Terry Shannon

Thrilling 6-Day Novel by Noted Author

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Peter Blair, down and out in New York, takes a job as chauffeur for Madelon Dillon. Sam Hoffman, Miss Dillon's rich friend, objects to Peter, but finally she and Sam leave for Atlantic City. Peter is told to use the car. Steve Howatt, an ex-convict, badly wounded, asks Peter to deliver $10,000 to a fellow prisoner, Big George Kelly, in an up-state town. Steve thinks he's dying, and wants to reward Kelly for kindness When Peter mentions Steve's name to Kelly the latter reviles him. Peter keeps the money and falls in love with Arline For rest, who works in Kelly's office. He takes her motoring and expresses interest in her.

He meets Lucille West, who shows her admiration for him openly. At a party he fights with Kelly, and later tells Arline her employer's past history, begging her to have nothing more to do with him.

CHAPTER 3

AN emotion that he could not control rose up in Peter and choked off his utterance This was so round-about—this warning her against Big George Kelly—when what he was really trying to express was the fact that Arline had stirred him as though a skyrocket had burst in his heart

Yet what had he to offer her?

From behind them was a roar and the scream of a motor horn, the flash of light, the thundering vibration of another vehicle close beside them, scraping, smashing, throwing them off the road . . . a roaring truck, heedless of the damage it had done . . . speed on and around the curve.

"You're not hurt—tell me —" Her hands touched his shoulders, his arms In the excitement they were quite close together and he felt the yielding pressure of her body against his own.

"Not a scratch on me," he breathed thankfully. "You're all right, too, aren't you?"

Only then did her face blanch "I'm not hurt," she said almost inaudibly.

After it was all over, the minute in her asserted itself and the flame of consciousness burned low. . . . Arline Forest was not quite swooning, but Peter found his arms around her, sustaining her . . Her face, pale under the moon was quite close to his own, her breath faint and warm

For an instant he supported her, his cheek pressed against the flower-petaled softness of her face; as warmth and color came back to her he held her less tightly and rested her head against his arm.

"I was afraid that you . . . your car . . ."

"Don't worry about me or the car." Peter told her comfortingly

With his active strength it was an easy matter to climb out of the car and pull Arline after him. Together they stood beside the machine lying grotesquely on its side, its wheels an naturally in the air

"Your lovely car—is it ruined?" Arline asked.

Peter examined it briefly The body was damaged and probably some of the mechanism.

He was wondering grimly what Madelon Dillon would say, and where he would get the money to pay for the repairs Back in his hotel room was a bundle of money sufficient for all current expenses . . . enough, even, for a young man to get married on Ten thousand dollars! No living person knew he had it. With one bold stroke he could lift himself out of the slough of despond.

He looked at Arline . . . her eyes were upon him, curiously studying him.

Ten thousand dollars . . . Arline for a bride . . . a start in business in Millville. . . .

"Do you know why I like you?" she asked him suddenly.

He looked at her silently.

"I like you because there's something about you that seems to teem with great probabilities. You're so cool. A fine car wrecked and you act like it was nothing."

The next morning he got Madelon Dillon in Atlantic City.

"Well, I'll say you're a fast worker, Kid," Madelon Dillon remarked, when he told her "I guess it can't be helped. Say, how far is this town of Millville from New York, any way?"

Peter told her.

"Now listen, Peter, Mamma's coming back to New York tomorrow. I want to get out of town for a few days. Millville might be as good a hideaway as any place. Get me a parlor room and bath."

An uneasy feeling grew in Peter's consciousness that Madelon Dillon was entirely too informal with him for their relations to remain on an impersonal basis.

His thoughts were diverted by a call from Big George Kelly.

"You didn't get out of town I see," he grunted as he entered the room.

Peter, standing, looked at him steadily. "No."

Kelly emitted a cloud of smoke "That row at the Ant Fuit Club last night didn't help me a damn bit with anybody in this town How about $500—and you to fade out of the picture right away?"

Peter smiled sarcastically "Nothing doing! I'm going to stay here quite some time"

"Don't be a fool!" Kelly's eyes narrowed "I know you're got a crazy crush on that girl. What does one girl more or less mean to a young fellow like you? Not a thing in the world. I'll tell you what I'll do I'll make it a thousand—cash."

Peter's smooth young face head began to wrinkle "What's your idea, Kelly? Do you want to marry that girl yourself?"

"Something like that."

"Well—" Peter spoke slowly, thoughtfully. "She wouldn't, because if it came

SIR AUSTEN BACKS U. S. NAVY PLAN

London, April 24 (AP)—Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, told the House of Commons today the British government shared fully the hopes and wishes of the United States government on disarmament as set forth in Ambassador Gibson's speech at Geneva on Monday.

"The government desires me to take this opportunity to express its warm appreciation of the cordial conciliatory spirit shown by the American delegates and give assurances on its behalf that in the same spirit and with the most earnest wish to reach a complete understanding, it will consider the American suggestions," declared Sir Austen.

REPLY TO LABORITE

His statement was in answer to a question by Commander Joseph Kenworthy, Laborite, whether Ambassador Gibson's speech had been called to his attention and what response His Majesty's government proposed

"As was at once stated by my noble friend, Lord Cushendun," began Sir Austen, "his majesty's government shared to the full the same spirit and wishes of the government of the United States as there is set forth His majesty's government, equally with the government of the United States, desire not merely a limitation, but a reduction of naval armaments.

"They have indeed themselves made proposals for such a general reduction and that the reduction should be applied to every class of war vessels as between ourselves and the United States.

NO REAL DISPUTE

"Such difference as has hitherto existed has not been concerned with these great principles, but with the relative strength of our respective navies, but with determination of the categories into which ships of war should be divided."

"On this point his majesty's government have noted with much interest the new criteria suggested by Mr. Gibson. They attach great importance to the possibilities opened by the greater elasticity given by his suggestion to the adjustment of the agreed naval strength to the different circumstances of the two powers"

REVELS BY SEA TOLD AT TRIAL

Testimony that Mrs. Helen I. Eldridge of Newton, accompanied by a tall man, entered her husband's Water st. office at 3 a. m. one day last summer, was given today at the hearing of her divorce action and that of Joseph I. Eldridge in Middlesex Probate Court.

Bartholomew Donovan, night watchman of the building, testified Mrs. Eldridge and her companion remained three-quarters of an hour. He said she asked him to say nothing to Eldridge about the visit, and tipped him $1.

An automobile party at Nantasket Beach and Duxbury, in which Mrs. Eldridge of Newton was alleged to have participated, was described by Charles Donelan of Dedham, cartoonist who was called by Eldridge.

The witness failed to confirm charges in a signed statement which he made in the office of Atty William Hirsh previous to the trial, declaring he was unable to recall the incidents.

Called by Atty Hirsh, Donelan testified he had known Mr. and Mrs Eldridge for ten years, and Edward F. O'Hearn, named by the husband, for five years longer.

Hirsh then produced a statement signed by the witness in which he told of the automobile party Donelan testified the first part of the statement was correct. He said the party consisted of Mrs. Eldridge, a man from Dedham, himself and a girl whose name he was given permission to withhold.

According to the witness, they took the Eldridge car and drove to Duxbury, going from there to Nantasket, where they arrived after dark. Donelan said the car was parked and the party separated into couples, remaining at the beach for an hour.

He refused to confirm that part of the statement which told of Mrs. Eldridge calling him on the telephone in a hysterical state, after the trip, stating she had a letter from the Dedham man and could not give him up The witness said he could not recall the incident

The Curious Quizzer

Every day he asks a question and pictures those questioned.

THE QUESTION

Do you agree with Prof. Frank B. O'Hara, of the University of Chicago, that college students of today are brighter in general information than their college parents?

Jone Thomson, 31 Newcomb st., Quincy—Prof. O'Hara is right in his statement that college students of today are brighter than their college parents It should be apparent to anybody who really studied the situation, that with the modern schools we are far ahead of our parents in general information. It doesn't matter what the subject is, any of our college boys or girls can talk intelligently on most any subject.

J. A. PALMER, 191 Linden st., Everett—When Prof O'Hara made that statement he wasn't thinking in the right channels. You must realize that the present generation is far ahead of our fathers' generation, and there is no comparison between the two periods In our fathers' time there was not so many different things to engross the attention of the students, and there were not so many different ways of staying in touch with the world

ALINA WHITEHEAD, 770 Hancock st., Quincy—The world has progressed since our parents were in college, and that fact alone should make it obvious that the modern college student has a wider knowledge of things in every-day life than they ever had before.

JOHN YOUNG, 180 Washington st., Cambridge—I think Prof O'Hara is absolutely right in his statement From where I sit there seems to be no question about it. We are so far advanced in every line today over where the world was when our parents were young that there couldn't be any two ways about it. The students of today have a larger world from which to draw their information, so that their knowledge of general things is greater than our parents' was.

REILLY IS GIVEN 3 MONTHS FOR CONTEMPT

Leonard Reilly today was found in contempt of court by Judge Buttrick in Superior Court in Dedham and sentenced to three months in Norfolk County jail. He also was fined $250

Francis J. O'Donnell of Millis, charged with Reilly with attempting to corrupt and influence jurors who sat on the case of another defendant, was found not guilty and discharged.

The latter case was tried a week ago and the defendant found not guilty on a charge of intoxication On a further charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, the same jury disagreed.

As the result of an investigation by Dist. Atty Winfield M Wilnar, Reilly and O'Donnell were charged with attempting to influence certain jurors and Judge Buttrick issued an order for them to show cause why they should not be held in contempt

Each of the jurymen made sworn statements and it was disclosed that at least four jurors sitting on the auto case had been approached

BEAUTY TO SHUN 'HELL' IN U. S.

By EMILY BELLAH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Paris, April 24—"Miss Europe," the pulchritudinous name of Miss Elizabeth Simon, has renounced her trip to the United States to compete in the Galveston, Tex., beauty contest, but whether it was to safeguard her blonde attractiveness or her soul has not been revealed [illegible]

Miss Simon's exquisite beauty won for her the title of "Miss Europe," when she was chosen among 17 candidates as the loveliest girl in Europe.

It was decided "Miss Europe" should go to America to match her charms against those of "Miss America at the Galveston beauty contest.

Recently, however, it was decided "Miss Europe" would win her opponent on this side of the Atlantic.

It is reported Miss Simon was influenced by a letter received from a prominent Galveston ecclesiastic warning her such a trip to America would be the equivalent of taking a short cut to perdition He pointed out the pitfalls of beauty contests and the temptations that beset a beautiful girl who matches her charms in public against another piece of feminine [illegible]

RED SOX AFTER 2ND WIN OVER YANKS

MR. BOSTON
By Jack Conway

MR. BOSTON leaned against the hot dog and coffee stand in the back of the grandstand at Fenway Park.

"Some more java," said the veteran.

"A couple of hot puppies with mustard," was the order from a fan who kept his eyes glued on the playing field. "I must have nourishment, as this wind is very cold."

"What do you think of the Sox?" the bird behind the counter asked Mr. Boston.

"It looks as though Bob Quinn and Bill Carrigan have got a ball club," replied the veteran. "Everybody is playing heads up baseball."

"Ed Morris is doing his part," said the fan as he attacked his order of hot puppies.

"That catch of Taitt's was one of the best I've seen here since Harry Hooper left town," chirped the man behind the counter.

"Rothrock also turned in a couple of good catches," reminded Mr. Boston.

"I like the way Todt is stepping around this year," declared the fan. "Here's Ruth," said Mr. Boston. "Wonder if Morris will pitch to him or give him a pass."

"He'll pitch to him," said the hot dog salesman. "Big Ed has got plenty of heart."

Crash! Ruth busted the agate on the nose and it shot towards second base.

"Regan has got it and the Babe is out," yelled the fan. "Guess Carrigan has got a ball club this year. Yeah!"

"HEVING just got another hit," declared the hot dog man. "That makes three for him. Not a bad day at the bat for anybody."

"Old Rough will develop Heving into one of the star backstops of the league," said Mr. Boston. "Bill knows the backstop rackets."

"Let's have a cup of HOT coffee," piped the fan. "Be sure it's HOT. I'm for three early openings as long as the Anti-Saloon League doesn't put the ban on HOT coffee and HOT puppies."

"What league do those Anti-Saloon League fellows play in?" demanded the hot dog man.

"I know what league I'd like to see them playing in." went on the fan. "Wow! Did you see Regan pick that one up out of the dirt. I bet that kid never played on any Anti-Saloon League team."

"Don't talk about antiques like saloons," advised Mr. Boston. "Keep up to date my boy. You're living in an age of tea rooms."

"And hip flasks and speakeasies," interrupted the hot dog man.

"CARRIGAN looks full of life out there on the coaching lines," declared Mr. Boston. "He is heart and soul in the game. He doesn't hesitate to make changes in his lineup when presented with an opportunity to score."

"BILL has got plenty of moxie," declared the hot dog man. "Remember the day years ago when he pulled out a batter who had one strike on him and walked in as a pinch hitter himself?"

"That took plenty of heart," chirped Mr. Boston.

"I rate ball players by the size of their hearts," went on the hot dog merchant.

"Put Ruth up with the leaders then," declared the baseball fan.

"Okay with me," chirped the hot dog man. "The Babe is one of my favorites."

"TWO out in the first of the ninth," reminded Mr. Boston.

"It won't be long now," said the hot dog man. "The Sox are still leading, 4 to 2. If they can keep up playing like this for the rest of the season, I'll sell plenty of HOT puppies."

"And HOT coffee," interrupted the fan.

"I hope the weather warms up so that the call will be for tonic," asserted the salesman.

"Three out!" declared Mr. Boston.

"Old Rough has got started," chirped the fan.

"May he keep right on going," said Mr. Boston as he gulped down some more java and then dashed to a waiting taxi.

Record Entry for Harvard Meet

85 SCHOOLS WILL SEND ATHLETES

Entries for the 44th annual Harvard interscholastic track meet, to be held in the Stadium on May 11, have been pouring into the H. A. A., and already, with the closing date still more than a week off, the list of prospective competitors surpass all previous records.

Eighty-five schools have signified their desire to enter the meet, according to Manager Adam Rhodes.

Not only does the meet give promise of bringing on the track the largest number of competitors ever to battle for honors in the history of the New England scholastic athletics, but there is every evidence that the competition for the winning places will be keen.

In Class A, for example, where Andover has lately been almost regularly victorious, there is a unique situation. Many schools in this class are sending, not full teams, but only a few picked stars who are almost certain to score, and cut into the totals of the schools entering larger teams

North Shore Country Day School of Chicago, State College high school of State College, Pa., and Browne and Nichols School are among those entering only a few of their prized performers.

Strong teams from Huntington Mosen Brown, Milton, Roxbury School, and Newark Prep are expected to wage a fierce battle for the team honors in this division. Andover, Exeter and Worcester, which finished one-two-three last year, should have no walk-over in the contest this spring.

After the biggest mid-week list of games that will be played today, the diamond schedule drops off tomorrow with just a few local attractions. These games tomorrow are: B. C. high at Commerce, East Boston at Latin and St. Anslem's at B. C. freshmen.

Frank Aldren, faculty manager of athletics at Somerville high, will wed Miss Gertrude Moakley, niece of Jack Moakley, Cornell track coach, at Dorchester on Sunday afternoon.

'Twixt Tee and Cup
By BILL GRIMES

Although all courses are more or less waterlogged, a few days like Tuesday and today and they will be in prime condition again.

Coach Fred Corcoran of the Boston University golf team will have his charges at the Norfolk Golf Club for the second qualifying round this afternoon.

The low six will journey to Worcester Saturday for the opening match of the season with Worcester Polytech.

In defeating Rodney Brown and Buck Whittemore on Tuesday, Phillips Finlay and Bill Arnold turned a neat trick. The Country Club veterans have seldom been defeated on their own course and rarely on any other but the Harvard pair packed too many guns in the opening match of the Boston Four Ball League.

Two of the four pairs which represented Belmont Spring against Th Country Club are members of the Harvard varsity golf team. Jim Baldwin and John Filoon were defeated by Charles E. Mason and Franklin Pfaelzer, Jr., but the other pair, Finlay and Arnold, corralled the lone Belmont point.

Secretary T. B. Forsyth announced that the annual meeting of the Boston Newspaperman's Golf Association will be held at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon at Room 407, Boston Post Building. Every member should make it a point to be on hand.

The new sixth green at The Country Club calls for a real second shot. Playing to the old green it was possible to shoot in the general direction of the flag and dribble down to within holable putting distance of the cup. But no more. The new green is very narrow and well guarded by traps.

Frank Wilson has performed miracles at the Charles River Country Club. This course is in the best condition in its history and, still more important, it is getting better every day.

Emory Stratton opened the Boston Four Ball League season with a 73 at Brae Burn. Paired with Rodie Russ, Stratton stepped through Rutherford Ainslee and Raynor Gardiner to the tune of 3 and 4. Due to the fact that there was no roll, Stratton's feat is all the more remarkable.

Perley Crosby and Fred Eliot ran into a couple of tartars in Bobby Clough and Perley Chase, the Winchester midgets. Crosby and Eliot are the big shots of the Woodland team but they were flattened, 6 and 4.

Through Arthur Corwin shifting to Winchester one of the best four ball combinations in this section has been broken up. For years Corwin and Ray Gorton represented Brae Burn and the records show very few black marks chalked up against them.

As the Charles River Country Club team drew a bye yesterday, Eddie Murphy journeyed over to The Country Club to watch his partner, Phillips Finlay, put the "business" on Rod Brown and Buck Whittemore. Murphy and Finlay will play at No. 1 for Harvard this season.

It will be to the advantage of Freddie Corcoran to sneak out some day and watch Bill Mullins, since John Bernardi straightened out the former Worcesterite's tee shot. Mullens has been shooting consistently in the middle 80's and the chances are that he soon will receive a new handicap.

With Joyce Wetherhead, the former British champion, knocking 12 strokes off the Worplesdon course record, the chance of Miss Glenna Collett bringing home the title is not so promising.

Bob Rogers, the latest acquisition to Roland Wingate's staff at the Country Club, is a very fine golfer. He is a big, rangy boy, who brought a fine reputation over with him from the old country. Rogers hails from Glasgow and was at the Unicorn Country Club for about a week before he joined Wingate's forces.

Bradshaw With Robins

New York, April 24 (INS)—Joe Bradshaw, who pitched for the Williesbarre Club of the New York-Pennsylvania League last year, has joined the Brooklyn Robins for a two-weeks' tryout.

RUFFING ON MOUND FOR HOSE TODAY

By NICK FLATLEY

The peppery Red Sox go after the New York Yankees once more this afternoon. The Sox have taken up the Boston winning habit right where the Braves left off. The native fans, not having gazed on a defeat to date, are close to what you might call delirium.

Bill Carrigan's new ball club did a large and decided hit with a goodly section of the public. The boys like the way the athletes went about their business in the opening day.

There was the stamp of confidence and confidence in the way they [illegible] early bad, and then defended it. There was not any sign of trembling or nerves, because the world champions had to be present. It has been voted unanimously here about that the Red Sox are as good as the fans hoped they would be, and enthusiasts are around trying to place bets that the team will escape from the cellar. That first home appearance showed the faithful that the Carrigans are a smart and faster defensive team than they have been for quite a while. The chilled athletes handled the ball smoothly and rapidly and [illegible] hardly a mistake. The one error was excusable as it was made on damp fields this early.

Nick Flatley

It had been whispered around that Ed Morris had lost the hop on his fast ball. That myth was dispelled impressively, and now the gang can rest with the assurance that last year's pitching sensation is probably ten per cent better than ever, with the experience of a packed in, and shrewd advice that Bill Carrigan turned his way.

MORRIS OKAY

Large Edward should be one of the American League stand-outs this year. After a wild start, he settled down and breezed through. The Red Sox ways didn't do much swinging themselves, but they took full advantage of an early break, and that's the stamp of a heads up ball club.

Big Charlie Ruffing will do today pitching in all likelihood. He, like Morris, is expected to be a shining star in this campaign, and he has not been an easy bird for the Yanks in the past. Charley [illegible] finally convinced that his [illegible] never [illegible]

[illegible] boy will not have any [illegible] opponent will be. Wade Hoyt, right fully considered [illegible] pitcher, right handers every time, won his first game [illegible] the Athletics to four [illegible] and the handsome young man [illegible] an off day. He's just passed [illegible]

[illegible] a new lineup made quite an impression. Schmitt out in right field has the earmarks. He scampers around like a go-getter, and he hits like a shot with the bat. He was rewarded to let Doug Taitt pick a hit and that probably saved the ball game. Doug made one of those miracle catches, as he got out in a potential three run rally late in the game, and ruined the Yanks.

RUNS, REEVES FINE

Reeves did not have much to do at short, nor did Reeves around there but the two show a lot of stuff in practice and go about their [illegible] real ball players.

Jack Rothrock can roam plenty [illegible] field. He can reach fly balls with the best of them. The [illegible] Rothrock him a couple of [illegible] but he'll soon get used to [illegible]

The Yanks are just another great [illegible] They couldn't hit Morris, but few teams do when Edward is right. The shift Huggins has been using with his infield seems to be all for the best. Little Durocher, who used to be a Twiltwitter, has grabbed the shortstop job, and he looks like the best fielding bet in the league.

And he whacked out three of the Yank hits. This young man has a lot to console him in a carload of cash this year. We heard him offering to wager a month of his pay, down in the South, that he would hit .280 this year.

When the two big boys are not batting them, the club does not look ferocious. It will be up to Mister Ruffing to curb them today. Then the Red Sox can jump over the .500 mark.

Harvard Nine Faces Amherst Today

By TED LYNCH

Harvard steps into some stiff baseball competition this afternoon when the Crimson ball nine faces Amherst on the Soldiers Field diamond. Harvard meets one of the best Lord Jeff teams to invade these parts in the last decade.

The Crimson, very impressive in its opening game against Bates, will have to be just as good in meeting Amherst, far superior a club to the Maine aggregation. Harvard is facing a nine which is composed of five veterans and which has a remarkable pitching staff.

Coach Al Wheeler of the Lord Jeffs has Al Nichols and Merritt Pratt ready to shoot against the Crimson. Both are veteran hurlers and rates with the best of the Amherst hurlers in late years.

VETERAN PITCHERS

Both are veterans and will give the Harvard batters plenty of trouble. Nichols probably will get the assignment this afternoon.

Coach Wheeler will have George Trenchard catching. Trenchard is a veteran and faced Harvard last year.

The Lord Jeff infield will be composed of Arnold Hemsley, Bob Wilson, Howie Groskloss and Capt. George Dean. In the pastures Coach Wheeler is starting Bergie Gottlieb, George Goodwin and Art Williams.

Coach Fred Mitchell crossed up the dope in the Bates game by starting Howie Whitmore and Red MacHale will probably draw down the assignment this afternoon.

Harvard's club is still hitting the ball. The team average going into today's game is .283. Three of the Harvard starters are batting well over .300 with several others just missing that select class due to technical scoring.

ARMY AND NAVY DENY TRUCE

New York, April 24 (AP)—A renewal of the oft-repeated rumor that Army and Navy were prepared to patch up their athletic differences has brought from officials of both institutions a denial that there has been any change in the situation.

The report, as printed in Chicago, had it that the rival service academies were ready to call a halt on verbal hostilities and resume football relations in a game to be played at Soldier Field, Chicago, in 1931.

Soon afterwards authorities at West Point and Annapolis came out with statements professing entire ignorance of any such arrangement.

Despite this double-barreled denial, it was insisted that a contract for use of the field was in the hands of the South Park board ready to be signed.

An Army spokesman at West Point said bluntly that there was nothing in the report. "Our rules are clear," he added. "We have no quarrel with the Navy and no hatchet to bury. If the Navy wants to play football games with us it knows the steps to be taken."

At Annapolis it was said no official at the Naval Academy knew anything about plans for a resumption of Army-Navy athletic relations, severed when the Army declined to grant the Navy's demand that West Point adopt a three-year varsity eligibility rule.

No Permit for Service Game Asked

Chicago, April 24 (INS)—No permit has been asked or issued for an Army-Navy football game on Soldiers' Field in 1931, George T. Donoghue, superintendent of the South Park Board in charge of the field, asserted today.

Holy Cross Nine to Play Japanese Team

Worcester, April 24—Daniel H Coakley, Jr., manager of the Holy Cross baseball team, announced today that he had completed negotiations with the American representatives of Meiji University of Japan and that the Japanese baseball team will appear at Fitton field on May 28.

Meiji will take the place of Osaka Mainichi of Osaka, Japan, which was scheduled for that date early in the year but was forced to abandon its plans for an American tour.

Bunioneers Move Into Missouri

Collinsville, Ill., April 24 (AP)—With 1026 miles of their 3400-mile journey completed, the 28 survivors in Pyle's bunion derby moved into another State today. They were headed for Maplewood, Mo., a jump of 30 miles.

Pete Gavuzzi, bearded Italian of Southampton, England, was protecting a three-hour lead over Jimmy Salo, the flying cop of Passaic N. J., when the blister brigade moved out of Collinsville this morning.

Lynn Legion Post Holds 10-Mile Race

The Lynn Post, No. 6, American Legion, will start its annual 10-mile handicap cross country run on Saturday afternoon, May 11, at 2 o'clock.

Already three of the noted runners of the East, Clarence DeMar, Jimmy Henigan and Albert "Whitey" Michelson, have signed entry blanks.

Entries for this event close with Manager Humbert Ciraffe, 30 Lancaster ave., Point of Pines, Revere.

Eagle Track Team Leaves for Penn Relay Carnival

RYDER TAKES DOZEN RUNNERS ON TRIP

By JOHN B. GILLOOLY

A dozen Boston College runners, headed by Capt. George Wilczewski and Coach Jack Ryder, will leave the Hub tomorrow for Philadelphia to compete in the 35th annual Penn relay carnival on Friday and Saturday.

The 12 runners compose two relay teams and three individual contestants. There's a varsity sprint relay, a freshman mile quartet, the B. C. leader, Tommy Meagher and John W. Sullivan

The varsity sprint outfit, on which Coach Ryder is placing all his faith, does double duty on Friday competing in two races. The first will be the quarter mile event, member of the team running 110 yards, and the second is the half-mile, with the members sprinting 220 yards

CONVERTED FOUR

Although this quartet has been running the mile relay all winter, Jack is taking a risk in entering it into a sprint combination McCabe and Finn are natural 440 yarders, but Eddie Sullivan and Wentworth feature at the quarter. Bill Mulcahey, who goes along as an alternate, is another quarter miler

Ryder has sent Boston College representatives to the Penn Relay games for the past nine years that is since he has taken over the job as coach at the Heights. In that span of years he has produced seven title-winning relays. B. C. has amassed all kinds of titles on Franklin Field from the mile to the four mile crowns

Jack has set up no one kind of a record or other in so doing, and would like nothing better than to add another Penn title to the list. He knew quite well that his team wouldn't stand much of a chance in the mile event. He saw it beaten too many times last winter to give him hope for victory in the coming meet

So for two weeks he has been sending his boys over the century and furlong routes. The result is that Finn, McCabe, Woodworth and Sullivan have developed into a fine quartet and it wouldn't be surprising if they helped Jack in a little rejoicing either by winning the quarter or the half mile races

The freshman mile team, made up of Guerino Pasquantonio Jack Crewe, Brandon Moynihan and Bill O'Neil, is mediocre. Pasquantonio is a dash man, while Moynihan is accustomed to distances longer than 1000 yards

But the yearling members of the party are all fighters though not one of them is actually a flash at the quarter mile. Yet when they give it their best things look a chance for some sort of honors

CAPTAIN IN DEATHLON

If hard work means anything, then Capt. Wilczewski should be up with the leaders in the decathlon. Zeus has been spending as much as four and five hours a day for the past two weeks in practice, himself for the coming week-end relay

Long workouts with the shot, discus, javelin, high jump, pole vault, hurdles and dashes and then four laps around the cinder path has been the program for the Eagle leader for the past fortnight.

He never was in better condition for a track meet. And because of this Ryder expects him to finish up with the leaders. Zeus stayed in the running a year ago until his bad knee gave way under the strain

Wilczewski will pick up many points in the hurdles, weights and javelin, but he'll be held back in the running events and jumps

John W Sullivan, brother of Eddie on the varsity sprint relay, is entered in the 440 yard hurdles. He is the toughest stretch of all for the timber-toppers Sullivan has been doing well to 220 high and the 220 lows all year and has a fighting chance of winning some thing at Penn

Tommy Meagher, ace cross country runner, is entered in the Navy, though it was the first time he ever ran the distance in inter collegiate competition

CHOOSE RYDER CUP TEAM

London, April 24 (AP)—Walter Hagen, captain of the American Ryder Cup team, ran true to the characteristic Hagen form of doing the unexpected today when he announced eight of the team to play in the foursomes Friday and left Horton Smith, young Missouri star, out of the lineup.

The teams for the foursomes were announced today as follows.

C. A. Whitcombe and Archie Compston (British) vs. Johnny Farrell and Joe Turnesa (U. S.)

Aubrey Boomer and George Duncan (British) vs. Leo Diegel and Al Espinosa (U. S.)

Abe Mitchell and Fred Robson (British) vs. Gene Sarazen and Ed Dudley (U.S.)

E. Whitcombe and Henry Cotton (British) vs. John Golden and Walter Hagen (U. S.).

JOE DE VITO AND McLEOD FIT

Joe DeVito of Providence and Farmer George McLeod of California, two of the greatest young wrestlers in the game, will tapor off in their training today, and tomorrow night they will meet in the feature finish match of an all-star wrestling tourney at the Arena.

The battle between De Vito and McLeod is expected to produce thrill after thrill

Despite his recognized ability, De Vito will be a short-ender tomorrow night. He has never faced a wrestler of the ability of McLeod. The farmer has speed to burn. He is seasoned by experience. He is the prize pupil of the late Frank Gotch and Farmer Burns. He is recognized all over the country as only a step behind the Big Three—Sonnenberg, Lewis and Malcewicz

Public Should Pick Champs—Muldoon

New York, April 24 (INS)—The winner of the proposed baseball weight bout between Kid Chocolate and Eddie La Barba, scheduled to be held here on May 21 will not be recognized as the champion by the New York State Athletic Commission if Commissioner William Muldoon has his way.

Weary of bickerings over titles he feels the public should make its own champions and the boxing commissions should confer championship recognition.

Muldoon said the only worthy champions today are Tommy Loughran, king of the lightheavyweights, and Corp. Izzy Schwartz, recognized in his State as flyweight champion

Joyce Wethered Wins First Match

London, April 24 (AP)—Miss Joyce Wethered former women's golf champion, won her first round in the Surrey championship by defeating Mrs. Cruickshanks, seven up and six to play. Miss Wethered's play was almost flawless.

Marjorie Morrill and Edith Cross Sail

New York, April 24 (AP)—Edith Cross of San Francisco and Marjorie Morrill Dobbin, Mass., are favored in the Bermuda ocean race tonight to 11 o'clock when they were scheduled to start from Brenton Reef Light Vessel with a total of four contenders. One was the Malabar III of Marblehead, Mass., and French champion ships as well

Offer Dundee $40,000 to Battle Corbett

New York, April 24 (AP)—An offer of $40,000 was filed last night to Joe Bindon, general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers baseball club, to match Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, with Tommy Dundee, welterweight champion of the world at Baltimore to meet Young Corbett, southpaw champion from Fresno, Cal. in a No. 2 match. The bout here in June. The offer was made by Phil Bernstein, acting for Frank S. Shaler, matchmaker of the Observatory Club

Weston Wins

Weston high school baseball team defeated Lowell high school 5 to 4 in a seven inning game at Cambridge Junior oval last night. Weston had 11 safeties off four hits and fanned 12 while Lowell made 8 safeties and 3 errors. Weston batteries were Lowell and Brown; Weston, Cowan and Tuttle.

One for Brighton

Brighton high defeated Charlestown high by 12 to 2 in a baseball game played on Braves Field. Brighton gave McLaughlin and Stewart gilt-edge support and batted out 16 hits. Polychronidis and McLaughlin led the Brighton sluggers with three hits apiece

Hambone and Rawson Sure to Toss Fistic Bombs

PUNCHERS CLASH AT ARENA

Kayo Likely When Local Heavyweight Rivals Get Together in Big Go

By JACK CONWAY

THEY call one of the bomb tossers Hambone Kelley.

The other bird answers to the name of Big Boy Rawson.

What these tan mugg swatters don't know about the fine points of the fistic racket would fill a couple of million olumes. They wouldn't recognize a fancy boxer if they saw one.

They are just two-fisted fighting men, throw backs to the days when heavyweights entered a ring and punched away until one or the other was lugged to the nearest relief station.

Jack Conway

Hambone has furnished this writer with many thrills. Just when the fight racket begins to look rather blase to me, the South Boston warrior steps into the ring and knocks a flock of rivals stiff.

Hambone, like Babe Ruth, looks good even when he is striking out. You cannot help but think what would have happened if the old Hambone had scored.

Paul Berlenbach once told me that Hambone hit him harder than Jack Delaney or any of the other famous boxers he had battled.

Just now Hambone is in the midst of a come-back surge. He wants to earn some money for the rainy day which he figures will reach him in time. So he's going to bed early nights, whirling along the road mornings and running sparring partners in the gym afternoons.

Hambone in action is a cure for what troubles you.

THIS is especially true when the party of the second part happens to be an ambitious fistic bomb like Big Boy Rawson. The latter is a natural puncher. He likes to shuffle across the ring until he gets within range of his opponent and then let the big sock drive.

Three times did Big Boy bounce Bob Mills off the canvas in their meeting at the Arena. The supply of wind in Big Boy's lungs then became exhausted and he flopped to the canvas.

Al Lacey, trainer of Jack Sharkey, has been placed in charge of the Rawson wind supply for the Hambone battle. He will have his protege all tuned up and ready to go. He's Big Boy will have enough wind at the Arena on next Monday night for a dozen fights.

COL. BOB McKIRDY says that if Hambone swats Rawson out of the picture, he will try to arrange a Kelley-Mahoney fight for Fenway Park. The Colonel said this news was to be treated as strictly confidential and I'm only passing it along to you. So keep it under your hat and see what happens in the Arena jam on Monday night.

Every other boxer on the card will be a heavyweight. In the eight-round semifinal Roy Mitchell of Halifax, another savage puncher, will meet Eddie Callahan, Arlington gamester, who has made so many good showings in local rings.

In a six rounder Joe Stoneman, red-headed Dorchester heavyweight, will meet Frank Silva of Cambridge, a hard-hitting young man who is supposed to be something of a puncher. Another six rounder will find Eddie Shea and three four rounders Eddie Gallen will complete the card.

In the four rounders Roy Thompson of Dorchester will be paired with Jim McNeeley, former amateur champion from Cambridge; Pat O'Leary, 220-pound Irish giant from South Boston, with Win Pierce of Arlington, and Gus Brown of Canton with Jack Dorsey of the West End.

Open Tournament Attracts Amateurs

St. Joseph's T. A. H. will play host to scores of amateur boxers Saturday night in Commercial Hall, Bowdoin sq., when it will stage an open amateur boxing tournament.

Bouts will be held in the 112, 118, 126, 135, 147, 160 pounds and heavyweight divisions, and each division will be open to all comers from all parts of New England. In recent weeks the West End organization has been developing novice boxers down in the little incubator in Bowdoin sq., and many of these recent novices will make their first start in an open tournament Saturday night.

B. C. OUTFIELD UNSETTLED

The more ball games that the Boston College team plays the more complicated becomes the outfield situation. Coach Hughie Duffy has new problems with his garden as the result of his team's 7 to 4 victory over Lynn of the New England League in the first meeting of the clubs.

Frank Regan started in right field. Before the game his job was more or less in the balance. If he didn't come through Ted Duffy was going to step in and fill for him.

Regan made two clean, hard hits. One was a triple and the other a single and both came at damaging moments. And he added a couple of nifties to his day's work by nailing under fly balls in the right field pasture.

Now it seems that Regan has established himself. It may have been just a flash but he's going to start against Lynn tomorrow when the teams clash for the second time at the Heights.

Johnny Temple, center fielder, played his usual high class game and seems O. K. for the job in the middle garden.

But Larry Gibson, in left, was taken out for Bob Smith and Smith proceeded to pole out a triple. And then Jim Donovan was used in the outfield and he smashed out a hit.

With all these hitting outfielders, who play poorly and well, on successive days, Hugh Duffy can't make up his mind. Regan will be in right tomorrow, with Temple in center, Gibson is a hard man to move from left but it seems that either Smith or Donovan will be under consideration if Duffy decides on a shift.

Harvard Frosh Crew Picked for M.I.T. Race

The selection of the first Harvard freshman crew, which will row against M. I. T. freshmen in the first regatta of the Harvard rowing season, slated for May 4 on the Charles river, was announced by Coach Haines of the Crimson freshman oarsmen.

Haines' first freshman boat is the Red crew, which has been stroked by A. H. Parker and which has been coxed to victories over the Wear and Isis crews since the opening of the active rowing season.

Although Haines states that he will make a few changes in his first boat before May 4 the present plans are to keep this crew intact at least until after the first race.

The choice of the second freshman crew has been postponed for the present, in view of the fact that the White crew which has been generally considered the second boat, has been beaten by the Blue crew in the last few races.

Illinois Turf Club Gives Sande License

Chicago April 24 (AP)—Following the action of the Maryland Association, the Illinois Turf Association has granted a trainer's and jockey's license to Earl Sande.

Sande was one of the few to win 1929 permits as the Illinois turf body denied licenses to 16 jockeys and six trainers.

TAD'S TIDBITS

AT the unveiling of the Muldoon-Tunney trophy recently, Prof. William Muldoon in his speech said:

"We have better fighters today than we ever had."

Mr. Muldoon may be right, but the majority of fight fans think he is wrong. He can't mean to say that the present-day heavyweights are better than those a few years back.

They may be better wrestlers and runners, but they are not better fighters.

The writer recalls Bat Masterson at Toledo. Bat went back to the days of Sullivan and knew a lot of fighters. He went over to see Willard the first day he (Bat) arrived in Toledo, and that night in the Secor Hotel lobby said: "Willard is in great shape. He is the best big man we have had in 25 years, and I have seen them all."

Tom O'Rourke, the veteran manager and trainer, said to the writer recently: "John L. Sullivan was the greatest big man I ever saw. When Sullivan was Sullivan no man that ever laced on a glove could lick him.

ARTHUR LUMLEY, the veteran boxing writer says: "The Sullivan that beat Paddy Ryan was the greatest heavyweight that ever lived."

Jim Corbett says: "Jack Johnson was the last of the great heavyweights. Of course I could make myself popular by saying that Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney were the best, but, to be honest with you, I must say that the last of the great experienced fighters was Johnson. Tunney and Dempsey were good, but they had no competition, and they lacked experience."

The boys of long ago drank a little more than the boys of today, but they could fight a little better, too. Not all were great, no, but the stars those days were much brighter, don't you think?

DOES Mr. Muldoon think that it would have taken Bob Fitzsimmons or Jim Jeffries or Sullivan 11 rounds to stop Tom Heeney? Does he think that Heeney could have hit Jack Johnson with a hand full of bird shot?

Tom Gibbons went 15 rounds with Dempsey. Does Mr. Muldoon think that Gibbons would have stayed that long with Tom Sharkey, Kid McCoy or Chovinski?

As for heavyweights, does Mr. Muldoon think that Tommy Loughran would be boss in the days of Fitzsimmons, Langford, Ketchell, McCoy, Dillon, Miske and Jack Root?

As for the middleweights, does he think that Mickey Walker classes with Tommy Ryan and that gang?

Jones Makes Ready to Defend Titles

Atlanta, Ga., April 24 (AP)—Bobby Jones, amateur champion, has begun serious preparations for the two big American golfing events he will enter this year—the national open in June, and the national amateur at Del Monte in September.

He is playing a couple of times a week, and on his last time out turned in a neat 65 over the difficult East Lake course.

Jones is going to Philadelphia later in the week for the annual meeting of the United States Golf Association.

SCHMELING TO MARRY SCREEN STAR, IS REPORT

Berlin, April 24 (INS)—A report current in sporting circles today that Max Schmeling, German aspirant to the pugilistic heavyweight championship, has decide to remain in Europe to fight, led to the still more interesting report that Max may take a K. O. from Kid Cupid.

Schmeling announces he has offered his German manager, Rosow 1000 marks to settle their differences, if Baelow refuses, Schmeling may abandone his proposed American trip and fight only in his native country.

"I must be free if I want to do my best," Schmeling said.

Another reason for Schmeling returning in Europe is said to be his love for Jarmila Vackova, 18-year-old film actress of Hollywood. Schmeling met her on a stopover coming to Europe and it is whispered he took the count at the first glance.

Miss Vackova is at present in Prague making a picture and it is said that Schmeling has already paid one flying courtship visit to the Czechoslovakian city.

Dr. Bisch's Daily Health Hint

MANY persons complain of lack of appetite on arising. This is often due to sluggish digestion from the night before. Fruit for breakfast helps to overcome this condition. A little fresh air and exercise before eating are likewise beneficial.

Martha Lee Tells of Luncheon Dishes

A COLD sandwich, glass of cold milk and some leftover cold dessert is not the type of lunch one will help your child to be a good student or grow to healthy manhood or womanhood, while a hot dish, tasty and satisfying, high in protein, the body-building material, minerals and starch for energy, will help to make your child a good student.

Martha Lee to listen

Here are a few luncheon dishes prepared especially for the mother who must care for the house, mend, prepare meals and yet keep her family well entertained—in other words, a real homemaker.

SAUTED CORN, BACON AND POTATOES

1 to 3 c. cold cooked corn.
Salt and pepper, paprika.

Cook the bacon in a frying pan, then add the potatoes, seasonings, and saute until golden brown. Stir in corn and continue stirring until delicately browned. Serve hot.

BACON OMELET

Dice 4 slices of bacon and fry slowly. Beat 4 eggs until light, add 4 tbsps. of milk, season with salt and a dash of paprika. Mix with bacon and cook until a light brown. Fold and serve on a hot platter.

SQUAW CORN

Cook ¼ c. diced bacon until crisp and pour contents of a can of corn into skillet. Cook for a few minutes, season to taste. Serve immediately.

BACON AND FRIED APPLES

Broil bacon (or fry in a skillet), saving the drippings. To the drippings add apples, cored and cut into eighths. Cover and cook until apples are nearly done. Remove cover and let apples fry until brown. Serve with bacon.

STUFFED BACON SLICES

15 slices bacon.

Make a moist bread dressing. Place 1 heaping teaspoonful on one end of slice of bacon; roll the bacon slice around the dressing and fasten with a toothpick or small skewer. Broil, turning frequently to brown on all sides, or fry in pan turning to cook evenly on all sides, basting with the drippings.

CHEESE TOAST WITH BACON

Fry one-half pound bacon until delicately browned. Make a sauce of 4 tbsps. bacon drippings, 4 tbsps. flour and 2 c. of milk. Season with ½ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. paprika (¼ tsp. Worcestershire sauce if desired), and stir in 2-3 c. of cheese grated. Cook about 5 minutes or until the cheese is melted. Pour over 8 slices of toast and place 2 or 3 slices of bacon on each slice of toast.

BACON AND TOMATOES

Wipe 3 large firm tomatoes and cut in halves crosswise. Sprinkle with a little salt, pepper and sugar and place in a pan. Arrange 2 or 3 slices of bacon on each piece of tomato and place in a hot oven or under a broiler until bacon is crisp. Remove to a hot platter.

Faithfully yours,
MARTHA LEE.

Spring Serenade

DRAWN BY Dorothy Flack

SPRING, when the whole world wakens from a long winter sleep!

When Nature's orchestra tunes up for the annual concert and even the breezes carry a soft minor air as they stir the sleepy trees and flowers. And the flowers nod their heads in time to the director's baton and softly sing the sweetest song of all. Even the birds join the choral and chirp a happy accompaniment and poor mortals listening to the spring serenade cannot resist the lure of the outdoors.

And why should they? For in the spring, when everything is at its best and newest and loveliest, who wants to resist the song of Nature? Who would deny the loveliness of this concert, which is old as the world itself, yet ever new, ever sweeter, ever more alluring?

The pipes of Pan have nothing on Nature's song, for when it all blends into a magnificent choral of life and living it's the grandest, most inspiring of any concept ever given.

AUCTION BRIDGE by WILBUR C. WHITEHEAD

GAME NOT ALWAYS BID AT CONTRACT

	♠ K Q J 10 8 ♥ 8 3 ♦ A K 6 ♣ 5 4 3
♠ 9 4 2 ♥ Q 6 5 ♦ J 9 8 5 ♣ A J 9	North West East South	♠ A 7 5 ♥ A J 10 7 2 ♦ 10 7 ♣ 10 6 2
	♠ 6 3 ♥ K 9 4 ♦ Q 4 3 2 ♣ K Q 8 7

BIDDING Minimums: South and West passing, North's original one Spade bid shows partner 5 Probable Tricks, inclusive of 2½ to 3 Quick Tricks. East's defensive overcall of two Hearts shows 4 to 5 Probable Tricks inclusive of at least 1¼ to 2 Quick Tricks. South and West passing, North's unassisted two Spade re-bid shows 6 Probable Tricks, one more than required for his original bid. This concludes the bidding at Auction Bridge, but at Contract Bridge South would raise the bid to three.

Salient Points: East's defensive overcall of two Hearts has little or no objective with a passing partner other than to indicate the desire to have Hearts led in case South should become the Declarer. South holding 3 Probable Tricks in support of North's Third Hand original bid would have an immediate assist, but for lack of average expectancy in North's suit. West, with the same number of Probable Tricks in support of East's bid, even though holding normal support for East's suit, must also pass, as his values are insufficient for an assist for a defensive bid. North's re-bid of Spades with but 6 Probable Tricks had no other objective than to show five cards of the suit as well as additional strength. Upon this showing of length, South shows his 3 Probable Tricks by assisting to three Spades. North, however, with no more tricks than he has already shown, cannot bid for game.

Play: East is in some little difficulty regarding his choice of opening leads. His selection of the Diamond 10, the top of a worthless doubleton, was because of his holding a sure stopper in the trump suit, which would enable him to shift to another suit before his trumps could be exhausted, should the doubleton lead prove unfortunate.

North wins with the Diamond A and proceeds forthwith to make his contract. There is nothing in particular to the play of this hand, as unless the adversaries revoke, North has no chance of making any more than his contract.

Another hand will be discussed tomorrow.

Mr. Whitehead will answer questions concerning your bridge problems. Write to him, care of this paper, enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope.

The Baer Facts -:- By 'Bugs' Baer

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

UP until the second Tuesday after the first instalment on the automobile, we had never heard of Colonel the Master of Sempil and Gladys, Lady Swaything.

It seems that they had a luncheon engagement at the Savoy in London. Traffic in London is as congested as a pickaninny in watermelon time.

Colonel the Master of Sempil solved the traffic business by hooking up his aeroplane. Leaving his delicate estate among the heather and the grose, he flew downtown, landed on the Thames in front of Cleopatra's Needle on the embankment.

A swift Savoy guest launch picked up Colonel the Master of Sempil and Lady Swaything and took them to lunch.

While the launch was shipping to the wharf, Colonel the Master of Sempil was served with cocktails.

It seems that Colonel the Maestro of Sempil has solved the traffic problem by drinking on a launch.

Another way of solving the traffic jam would be for Colonel the Master of Sempil to shorten his name to Jake.

It isn't everybody who can stagger home in a seaplane and a launch.

Lacking the essential dividends necessary to garaging such expensive vehicles, we intend to try the Colonel's recipe with more economical ingredients.

The cocktails are all right. They can be mixed if you can find the right kind of paint.

A dinner in the Savoy costs money. But they say the ancient game of chess was invented in the same hotel when two colonels started pushing the dinner check at each other.

Instead of the aeroplane and the launch we intend to substitute a bicycle and an ironing board.

Amusement costs very little in America. Thanks to Grover Whalen's newest traffic plan in New York, visiting pedestrians to that city can now play the old childhood game of prisoners' base with real, uniformed police.

The only drinking launch we have left is the Leviathan.

That deep-dish raft leaves for America all loaded up with the nectar of delirium.

All will be jollity and mirth. In the middle of the Atlantic the passengers will not need lifeboats.

What they will require most of all is lamp posts.

The first radio message from the captain of the Leviathan was picked up by an amateur using a one-tube tomato can for a receiving set. It read:

"Ain't we got funnels?"

Correct Manners

SERVING PICKLES

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. How should pickles be taken from the dish, with the fingers or fork?

2. How should the napkin be left after a meal?

3. When a husband and wife and a woman friend of theirs take a booth in a restaurant, should the gentleman sit opposite the ladies?

L. F.

WITH the fork that should be placed on the dish of pickles, for convenience in serving. If the household has not the specialized pickle fork, a small sized fork of any kind will answer this purpose. Or, if the pickles are very small, a teaspoon. The point is that some silver piece should be placed so that the guest will not have to use the fingers.

2. You leave the napkin on the table, to the left of the plate, not folded, but just as it was when you took it from your lap.

3. Usually this is the most convenient seating arrangement.

A COLD AND CLEANSING CREAM combined in one! It has all the cleansing qualities of the finest skin cleansers and the soothing, preserving properties of a fragrant cold cream—and only 50 cents.

HERE'S ONE PRICE—$1.88—for crepe de chine slips, pantes, chemises or dance sets. Some tailored and some lacy styles—in all the lovely rainbow shades. They are just in time for your summer "undies" shopping—and you'd have to pay lots more for them anywhere else.

HAVE YOU A BALDPATE IN YOUR HOME? Are thin spots beginning to show in hubby's crowning glory? Better buy him a scalp tonic. I know a specially prepared one that is guaranteed to give results—or money refunded. Price $1.00.

A CLOSEOUT OF COATS in a certain shop makes it possible for you to buy the smartest new models at just about half price. If you haven't bought your spring coat yet, better look at these first. $29.50 coats $15; $50 coats, $29.50, and so on up.

HERE'S SOMETHING NEW in the way of a depilatory. It is a sort of waxy preparation in a little bottle that is heated over a flame then applied to the places where the hair is to be removed. The hair comes off when the coating is removed, and a soothing skin cream which is included in the package is applied. It is harmless, and in time discourages the growth of superfluous hair. Complete $3.50.

A NEW COMBINATION corselette that is specially constructed to prevent the figure from spreading, gives the new princess line which the new dress fashion demand. You may have it fitted to order, one day service. It's easily fitted.

I KNOW A LOVELY GARDEN equipped with everything from the tiniest seeds to bright-hued reed furniture. It has been specially designed to give ideas to those delightful folks who are beginning their summer homes and gardens. You surely enjoy a visit in it.

VELVET-SOFT and SATIN-SMOOTH HANDS can be yours if you care for them. The simplest way is by washing them daily with a soap composed of rare oils and herbs. It corrects gooseflesh and roughness and can also be used on the arms, neck and back. Price 50 cents.

DO YOU KNOW that you can have your fur coat relined for $15? Let me tell you where.

A SPECIAL PRICE of $10 is offered on your choice of four permanent wave methods. Every wave guaranteed.

WHY SPEND YOUR PERFECTLY GOOD TIME AND ENERGY cleansing your soiled coats and frocks at home when you can have it done for just $1.00.

I SHALL BE GLAD to know the items in which you are interested, and will send you the information you desire if you will check the items, and send your name and address with a 2-cent stamp.

The Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

SOME husbands are like guest towels, not a bit of use in the world except to show off to other women.

The bear of a confirmed flirt is like a punching bag; it is easily started "going," but impossible to make any lasting impression upon it.

Every now and then, just as you have decided that the writing of love letters, like blacksmithing is one of the lost arts, some of those "Daddy-loves-Baby-Doll" letters get into the newspapers, and you realize that dear old human nature is running right along on the same tracks.

One of the crosses of a man's life is woman's passion for "emoting"; when a girl pours her heart out to him, he feels as though somebody had spilled a plate of hot soup down his back.

Lots of advice in this world is superfluous. Most men "don't reach for a sweet," these days. They just loll back and wait for "sweetie" to reach them.

All the girls in the senior class of a southern college admit that they hope and expect to marry. Apparently, pursuing a higher education is no longer incompatible with pursuing a husband; in fact, it's the most popular way.

A woman can forgive a man for almost anything except for not giving her anything to forgive him for.

It's a wise man who takes time to put out the fire, before he throws aside a cigarette—or a woman.

As long as Satan can make a woman believe that she can reform a rake and turn a philanderer into a one-woman man, the ladies will keep His Majesty's business running.

Elinor Glyn Says:

By ELINOR GLYNN

GIRLS—Do you remember the old proverb, "Waste not, want not!" Do not let prejudice against "Grandma's" advice prevent your seeing how very clever some of these old sayings are!

This one is especially true. It is so stupid to waste things! To waste youth and health—and especially the power to love—and to create real love.

If you change boy friends too often you will grow numb to all emotion, and even if you have a really spiritual mind somewhere tucked away, it will grow degraded.

So in the modern phraseology, "what's the use?" If you waste your salary, when summer comes you may not have enough to enjoy a really agreeable time.

If you throw about your clothes and are not careful with them, they may grow unsightly before you are ready to buy new ones. In short, silly waste of any kind is unintelligent.

Do not waste your energy either—do not bother about demagnetizing bores who are always so ready to hang onto the young and vigorous.

Keep yourself aloof, with your mind fixed upon your ultimate aim, which is bound to be one of these things—worldly success, self-expression, love and domesticity, riches, or just to live in peace! And above all, girls, do not waste your youth.

It is so tragic, sometimes, to see friends after five years' absence—they seem to have grown old with no life in their flesh, and some ugly hand of time stamped on them! They have wasted their natural force, that is obvious.

But our Mary must be so clever that she stays youthful on through the years. She can, if she has a strong enough will.

CHAPTER 27

The giant doorman bowed obsequiously as he let Queenie out between the big brazen doors.

At the curb stood her new town car, an imported glory of refinement, power and unmistakable class. Warriners don't buy brightly painted runabouts for the girls they love.

The chauffeur hopped to the ground as he saw his mistress, and opened the door for her. The action threw up the inner lights.

Within, slumped in a corner, his head on his chest as though asleep sat Eddie, huddled and inanimate. He raised his face as the lights sprang on. Queenie saw that he had a great red bruise on his cheek where he had been hit by Warriner's well-aimed and steel-like fist.

"To the Princeton Hotel," said Queenie to the driver.

The door closed and she was beside him in the dark. The murmuring motor was carrying them smoothly and swiftly away.

"Where are we going?" mumbled Eddie.

"To Hank"

"What for? She don' want me'

"Who don't? Snap out of it. I've got somethin' important to tell the both o' you—somethin' that'll settle this whole tangle, somethin' that'll leave the way clear so's you an' Hank can be by yourself, get married an' be happy—I hope."

"Married? Me an' Hank? Don't rub it in. You must o' known all the inside lowdown. Hank sure couldn' o' been handin' you that run-around, too, about lovin' me tho it was all hokum—it must o' been—an' you with your tears about Hank an' me—me an' Hank—"

"What are you talkin' about? demanded Queenie

"You know well enough. Hank come clean with me t'night after you busted out o' the dressin' room. She told me she never cared for me, that she was workin' me for what I could do to plug you both along in show business—"

"How? You're crazy—or she is—or I am."

"You're crazy like a fox, you are. She's sha. I'm the nut in this setup. She told me more—how she was head-over-appetite about some house manager on the Manley time —how she'd been long-distancin'— kisses with him ev'ry night—"

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR

EDDIE KERNS, song plugger, has written the music for "The Broadway Melody," a big revue, to be produced by the famous Zanfield. For two years Eddie has been engaged to "Hank" Mahoney. She and her younger sister, Queenie, are playing in vaudeville. Eddie tells them he has managed to place them in the revue. Eddie discovers he has lost his heart to Queenie. He keeps his secret from "Hank."

"Warry" attempts to get Queenie to go out with him. Eddie tries to persuade Queenie to have nothing to do with "Warry. He is holding her in his arms when "Hank" comes in. She asks if they have been fighting, and Queenie then leaves the room. Queenie shows "Hank" a diamond bracelet "Warry" had given to her. The revue wins the approval of the first-nighters. Eddie sends a note to Queenie to meet him alone. Hank breaks with Eddie and he seeks Queenie.

(Now Go on With the Story)

Queenie gasped.

The whole scheme of it overwhelmed her all at once.

So Hank—loyal, self-sacrificing, noble Hank had torn Eddie out of her heart for her, the little sister who had stolen him from her!

She was about hotly to expose the deception.

But she bit her tongue and was silent

If Hank wanted it that way, why should she double-cross her behind her back? She would have it out with her, two by two. So she was silent

Eddie turned his eyes toward, her, held them there and waited.

"So' It's on the level then, hunh? She handed me that and you were in on the play? Now I don't know what to think. Kid I've had more'n one punch on the button t'night."

Queenie was still silent

"So I s'pose I get the air from Hank an' you, too, an' you go to Warriner—an' that's that. I'd like to o heard what he said after he knocked me st.iff when I wasn lookin'."

"You'd have heard him ask me to be his—his!"

"His what? Don't answer if it hurts."

"His wife!"

She magnificent town car with "K. M." in tiny gold monogram on the door seemed to have made a mistake when it drew up to the little side street theatrical hotel. But it had not. Its owner and mistress stepped forth, and after her came a youth nursing a sore jaw and a sorer heart.

"Tomorrow—here—at noon," ordered Queenie Mahoney, as though she were used to it

"Listen here, Queen," said Eddie, "let's you an' Hank an' me have all this out—right now, all cards on the table."

No. Not right now," counter manded Queenie. "Hank an' me must chew it over by ourself— come in an' see us at eleven in the mawnin. You'll get your answer from both of us then mah l'e"

Hank was wide awake, sitting up she raised her eyes wearily but they took on facets when she saw Queenie, early, sober and grave Queenie, with it even removing her wrap confided up on Hank's lap. She buried her face in her sister's shoulder and her little body shook Hank could hold out no longer either, and the two wept together Hank broke it at last by drawing Queenie's tear-touched countenance where their eyes could meet, and said:

"Well—how'd it all come out? Give your big sis a great big tell

Queenie kissed her on the mouth.

"Hank," she said, speaking deeply, "you're the best, the sweetest an' the squarest sister any dumb, heartless jenn.e ever had "

"Can the hwerwurst an' slip me the facts. Never mind how hotsy totsy I am—that's neither here nor wh re anywhere How'd you wash up with Warriner — and Eddie?"

"It's a long, tall scenario, that," said Queenie "Eddie busted in an he got busted out with a sock in the chin. Then Warriner led one or me out o' somewhere."

"He tried to wallop you?"

"More than tried He handed me one that gave me the jolt o' my life But not with the duke. With language and now he can spout it, dad! Set yourself an' hang on to your chair—we're goin' around a curve Hank—he asked me—his biggest me—to marry him" right down to that I think I'd find a way to stop you from going through with it. You're not fit to breathe the same air she does. Now that's all, Kelly. Get out!"

Big George Kelly got to his feet.

"Something's going to happen to you—something bad! You're going to leave this town pretty shortly, and it'll probably be feet first out in the direction of the cemetery. Good night."

He swaggered out of the room.

Big George Kelly's threat against Peter, if it could be carried through, meant—death

"He might put it across," Peter admitted tohimself. "He's an ex-convict and he's still a bad egg!"

Peter called up Arline.

"If you're not doing anything tonight I'd like to see you," he told her.

Arline did not tell him that she had had a similar request, not ten minutes before from Wayne Carter, and had refused.

"I think that would be fine," she said. "Why don't you come on out?"

Arline opened the door herself, a slim vision of enchantment in a light dress. A lovely hand atretched out; her eyes, dark and lustrous, smiled at him.

They found wicker chairs in the intimate shadows outside.

"I do hope you'll leave Kelly," Peter said.

"I'm not going to. I can't afford to give up my position and get one that would probably pay less."

"I'd like to ask you," he went on, "if you're still going to keep on going out places with Kelly—dances and places like that? A man like him might fool a girl like you. He might even win your confidence and ask you to marry him—"

"He has already," Arline said softly.

Peter sat upright suddenly in his chair. "The low-down brass of him! This can't go on—"

"Don't talk that way. Please don't. . . ."

"It just takes my heart and tears it into rags when I realize that I can't provide for you like I want to, and like you deserve," Peter Blair said in a voice almost choked. "Maybe you'd be better off, Arline, if you married some person with money—some decent fellow like Wayne Carter—but you don't know how much I want you, honey . . . if I had to put you out of my life the sun wouldn't ever shine again for me. . . . I would be walking in darkness to the end of my days. That's the way it is with me, Arline."

Arline Forest looked at him with steady eyes.

"I don't think we'd better marry, Peter. I don't think I love you. How could I? I barely know you. I don't want to be in love, and I don't want to be married—now. And I'm not sure that if I tried with all my might, for years, that I could ever love you. I'm sorry if it hurt you when I tell you this, but you want me to be fair and truthful, too, don't you?"

"Will you listen to me . . ." Peter pleaded.

"It's no use," she told him, with a little burst of determination. "It's no use, Peter. I'm sorry. I can't marry you. You've got to get it out of your mind. You're only a boy . . ."

He got up from the chair; Arline rose simultaneously. They moved toward the end of the porch; his hat was on the table just inside the door, and he took it.

Arline put out her hand to him with a trace of self-conscious formality. Peter touched it briefly.

"Good night, Arline."

Her voice was a little shaken. "Good night, Peter."

"It's a terrible thing to part this way," he said.

For an instant her fingers gripped tightly into soft palms; then, she shook her head—there was a determined tilt to her chin

"I'm sorry you feel that way about it," she said with a shade of coldness.

Peter walked away as a long car stopped in front of the Forest home. The driver was Big George Kelly.

The whole point of it was that after this it didn't matter much what happened.

Arline Forest had made her choice, and that choice excluded Peter Blair.

Wayne Carter called on him next morning. "I thought I'd pay you the apology I owe you," said Carter.

"Forget it," Peter told him. "I was too excited to notice what you said."

"I guess we were all excited, Blair, and you probably mistook the direction of my sympathies—if I had any—in that scrap between you and Kelly. You ought to have a public note of thanks for pasting the big stiff. He's not right, that bird."

"He seems to stand all right in certain quarters," Peter said.

"With Arline?" Wayne Carter smiled cynically. "You've found that out, too, eh? She evidently didn't take long to let you know."

"Let's leave her out of it." Peter suggested.

"Right!" Carter agreed instantly. "Say, why not come on a party with me tonight, Lucille West's going too. You and Lucille can go in my car if you like. I'm taking Genevieve Gedden. I suppose there'll be eight or nine couples. We go out to a road house."

"I'll be glad to go," Peter declared.

Later, under a sky spangled with stars, he sat with Lucille in the back seat of Wayne Carter's car. His arm stole around her waist and she made no hypocritical resistance. Her head rested on his shoulder and presently her little mouth, warm and soft and red, was near Peter's heart suddenly began to jerk.

Peter closed his eyes and bent his head until his lips met the tender pressure of Lucille West's kiss

"Glad you're with me tonight?" she whispered softly.

He squeezed the small, warm hand in his own. "So glad that I wish we weren't going to meet any one else tonight."

"Do you think I'm a fool, Peter?"

"Why!"

"Don't be silly."

"Well, I know what I'm doing," Lucille West said, a trifle unhappily. "I'm making a fool ont of myself over you The thing that troubles me is that I can't explain it to myself. It's not because you're good-looking altogether—I've seen lots of good-looking chaps before and they left me cold. You frighten me, Peter, I swear do you . . . I'm not so much afraid of you . . . it's myself . . ."

Wayne Carter and Genevieve Gedden, who had been so absorbed with each other that they had scarcely noticed Peter or Lucille during the drive, got out of the car and turned in a jovial mood to their back seat passengers

"Say, you were pretty exclusive—you and Lucille—on that back seat coming out, Mr Blair," she said reproachfully. "I hope you two don't keep on high-hatting the rest of us all evening."

"Don't worry, Wayne," Lucille said coldly. "Peter's spoken for. He's mine."

Carter looked at her curiously.

"Well, I'll say you're a fast worker, Lucille, once you get started. When I think of all the time I wasted trying to get myself across with you, and then see how easy it comes for Blair, I think I'll ask him to give me some private lessons. What is it old man, a system?"

The bantering brought a flush of confusion to Peter's face.

Lucille, with quick intuition, sensed his embarrassment. "Don't pay any attention to them, Peter—they're jealous of us," she said gayly. "They'll be all right after they get a few drinks, but they're not a couple of self-starters like we are."

"We'll make up for lost time," Carter said succinctly.

Genevieve Gedden withdrew her steady gaze that had been studying Peter as they walked toward the entrance, and turned the provocative force of her eyes on Carter

"You sure been breeding a lot of trouble, Wayne, when you invited Mr. Blair out here tonight," she said cryptically.

"I'm not worried," he told her confidently

"I was not thinking about you" Genevieve Gedden replied "I was thinking about Lucille."

GEN. MOTORS IN 5-YEAR PACT WITH TRICO

General Motors has signed a five-year contract with Trico Products to supply the automobiles and trucks of the new General Motors divisions with automatic windshield wipers as standard equipment. This announcement was made today.

Trico, the plants of which cover an entire block in Buffalo, is taking steps to increase its production to double its present capacity, it is stated. Management declares this long-term contract is regarded as a definite recognition of the superiority of Trico's products in the accessory field.

Executive officials of General Motors requirements have not been announced. It was indicated the automobile manufacturers would take a substantial part of Trico's output. The company's products are standard equipment on the 1929 one American-built passenger car, as well as in taxicabs and street cars

'JIGGLE' NEW STOCK MARKET ARRIVAL

By FRANK H. MELOON, Financial Editor.

The intransitive verb "jiggle," meaning to skip about, is a newcomer in Wall and State Street lexicons. Jiggle, however, becomes a noun under the order of the day. A "jiggle" is a new sort of pool. A "jiggle," the up-to-date traders explain, differs from the old-line pool in that it buys as little stock as possible, operates usually for a few points only, and stays but a little while with any single issue. "Jiggles" explain the short, hectic rises in some stocks recently, which have been followed by equally abrupt drops. The "jiggle" bases its play on options taken a little way above the market when it starts to boost prices.

President Hoover's address this week, in which he dealt with crime and the lawless killing of 9000 persons per annum, did not go into details regarding the dollar losses as the result of crime. March 27, 1927, this column gave the first estimate of such losses. The total was thirteen billion dollars a year.

The annual loss by stock frauds is set as around a billion dollars. The late Howard Elliott, in a special article prepared for the financial editor of the Boston Evening American on July 3, 1927, set the yearly cost of sending our 600,000 American students through college at $900,000,000. The outlay had been attacked, and the former president of the New Haven was defending it. Picture more money lost in stock frauds alone every year than it costs to pay the way of all our vast army of college girls and boys!

These figures of millions and billions are only comparatively large. The Allies and the Germans discussing reparations, as this is dictated, are only three billion dollars apart. That is very nearly the same sum that the Civil War left this country to pay as the national debt. Dr. Schacht, the German financial luminary, put the price Germany would pay at $6,000,000,000; the Allies' minimum was $9,600,000,000.

they seem dwarfed into comparative littleness when Irving Fisher, celebrated professor of economics at Yale, informs us that America's losses from disease and premature deaths mount up to 15 billion dollars a year. It is significant of one modern trend that the arguments advanced for a National Institute of Health stress less the humanitarian side of the question than the problem of saving billions of dollars lost every year through preventable illness.

I am informed that James J. Phelan, Jr., of Hornblower & Weeks, who has just obtained a seat on the New York Stock Exchange, was on the buying side of the first deal made in New Haven Railroad above $100 a share. His firm recently prepared an analysis of this stock, reproduced in part in our Financial Section of Monday, which predicted a further increase in New Haven earnings during the current year and mentioned $20 a share as a possibility for 1930.

Goodyear is shaping up in line with the outlook as revealed in our special study published on March 16. The company is understood to have earned in the first quarter of the year a shade under $7,000,000 after interest charges and taxes. This is over half the $13,227,000 total reported for 1928, which included a credit of $2,500,000 from raw material reserves. But for 8 special charge in February first quarter would have been $8,000,000.

* * *

State Street hears the General Motors five-year contract with Fisher Body Corporation, announced today, is the largest of its kind ever recorded.

We hear the Pennsylvania Railroad is organizing a securities holding company, patterned after the type of Alleghny and Chesapeake corporations of the Van Sweringen interests. Step is aftermath of Interstate Commerce Commission intimation that disposal of $106,000,000 in Lehigh Valley and Wabash stocks, held by Pennsylvania road, would be desirable.

New company will be more of an investment trust than the present Pennsylvania Co. Stock in this company will be distributed to Pennsylvania shareholders. Existing plan is looked on as a threat to Pennsylvania's dominant position in Eastern railroad merger negotiations as Lehigh Valley has long been desired by New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio has named Wabash in its filing of merger petitions. By majority holdings in these two roads, Pennsylvania has thus far blocked progress in unifying Eastern lines.

Edison Co. of Boston has sold $15,000,000 6 per cent notes to the Old Colony Trust Co. and others. Notes consist of 8,000,000, running six months, dated April 25 and due Oct. 25, which have been resold on a 5¾ per cent discount basis, and $8,000,000 6 per cent one year notes, dated April 30, 1930, which have been resold at 99⅜, or a 6⅛ per cent basis. Proceeds of this financing are to take care of $14,800,000 notes falling due May 2, next, and for other corporate purposes. Of these maturing notes only $12,000,000 are held by the public.

RICH MEN ARE GENEROUS TO OLD HOMES

By B. C. FORBES

NEW YORK, April 24—Two things I have noticed about most of the really big men. They remain boys at heart, and the place of their birth, usually humble, retains the warmest spot in their hearts.

B. C. Forbes

Did you ever stop to think how many Americans who have attained great places and power and wealth lavish gifts upon their old home community or upon the city that has afforded them their opportunity to succeed?

This observation is inspired by the announcement (he other day that gifts planned by Arthur W. Cutten for Guelph, Ontario, the town of his birth and youth, include a modern hotel, an 18-hole municipal golf links, a baseball diamond, football field, tennis courts, playground and clubhouse.

John J. Raskob recently gave $1,000,000 (in memory of a son who was killed) for the relief and assistance of needy children, the headquarters to be in Wilmington, where the du Pont family, Mr. Raskob's sponsors and associates, have been located for more than a century. The du Ponts have given Delaware many notable institutions, Senator Colman du Pont devoted millions to building a wonderful highway through the State. Pierre S. du Pont has donated millions, a recent gift having been $330,000, to build a modern high school in Seaford. A. Felix du Pont recently gave $1,000,000 for a church boarding school for boys in Delaware.

Another General Motors family that are giving away more millions than the public know anything about for hospitals and for religious and other charitable institutions in Detroit are the Fisher brothers. Especially extensive have been the gifts made by Fred J. Fisher, but much of his largess has been conducted quietly that the facts have never been published. Not long ago Larry Fisher, the youngest of the five Fishers, gave Detroit a notable charitable institution.

Charles M. Schwab's gifts have included, among many others, a beautiful Catholic church at Loretto (where he was born), a convent house at Cresson, a model road in place of the dilapidated one where he used to drive his stage coach, a church at Braddock, an industrial school at Homestead, $2,000,000 endowment to St. Francis College at Loretto, a school and an auditorium at Weatherly, all in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Schwab probably was inspired by the unique example in money-giving set him by his old chief, Andrew Carnegie, whose benefactions were lavished upon his native town, Dunfermline, Scotland, and whose total givings reached several hundred million dollars.

Another town in Scotland that has benefitted greatly by the generosity of a native boy who emigrated to America and made his mark and millions is Falkirk, its Santa Claus being Robert Dollar, the 85-year-old steamship and lumber giant.

Owen D. Young has done and is still doing much for the little village of Van Hornesville, New York, where he was born 54 years ago. Van Hornesville thanks to its most distinguished son today has a district school such as is possessed by few other places in America. Mr. Young conducts a farm on the most scientific lines and encourages all his fellow-farms—Van Hornesville is Mr. Young's official residence—to come and see how things are done in the modern way, especially by means of electricity. Schwab, incidentally, also conducts a wonderful farm at Loretto, which has done much to improve methods and live stock in that territory.

George Eastman's contributions to the humane of Kodak have reached many millions, covering art, music, education, health, etc.

Milton J. Hershey is devoting practically his entire enormous fortune to making the home of his famous chocolate business, Hershey, Pa., an earthly paradise, especially for orphan children. George F. Johnson has been the exemplary "sugar daddy" of Endicott and Johnson City, N. Y., where he is "George F." to all his shoe factory workers and even to all the children. The Mellon family have been prominent and unostentatious philanthropic contributions to the city of Pittsburgh.

William J. Conners gave $1,000,000 as a foundation for charitable work in his city, Buffalo. John H. Patterson spent both money and himself in making Dayton a better city. Asa Candler did the same for Atlanta. George M. Verity is doing similar work for Middletown, Ohio. In San Francisco a community foundation was formed by 14 public-spirited citizens, including William H. Crocker, Mortimer Fleishhacker, Paul Shoup and Charles W. Merrill.

Happily more and more of our rich men are using their money worthily during their lifetime instead of holding on to it until they can hold on no longer—it was James J. Hill who once observed, "There are no pockets in shrouds."

DAVID TO HEAD COFFEE HOUSE

From grinding a coffee mill in his father's store to heading one of the largest food concerns in the country 20 years later is the record made by Donald K. David, executive vice-president of the Royal Baking Powder Company, who has just been invited to add to his duties the presidency of the newly formed Chase & Sanborn Corporation.

Having gained practical experience in his father's store in Moscow, Idaho, Mr. David turned quickly to the acquisition of a thorough understanding of the theory of merchandising. He graduated from the University of Idaho and the Harvard Business School. Then he became professor of retailing and assistant dean of the Harvard Business School and was for a time assistant to the president of Filene's.

Two years ago Mr. David left the business school to become executive vice-president of the Royal company, with which Chase & Sanborn, one of the oldest and largest coffee and tea distributors in the country, has become affiliated. And in his new capacities he heads the newest and one of the biggest food consolidations in the country.

SPIRIT OF NEW ENGLAND BOYS and GIRLS
One Penny Makes You a Member!
Members! Big Things Are Coming—Watch the American!
Twelve Boys and Girls with Mothers or Dads Will Have a Trip to Washington to Present the Club's Lindbergh Wedding Gift
Big things are in store for you when you become a member of the Boston American Lindbergh Club.
After you send in your enrollment blank, with your one penny fee, your name will be published in the Boston Evening American. Then you will receive your membership pin and your member's card.
This entitles you to send in a note telling in your own words "What Lindy Means to Me."
If your note is one of the twelve selected you will make a trip to Washington accompanied by your mother or dad. You will represent the club in presenting a gift in honor of Colonel Lindbergh's wedding.
The moment you become a member of the club you may take part in all the big things we plan to do. Watch the American daily for more news.
Send in your enrollment blank and your penny now.

Every boy or girl who joins the Boston American Lindbergh Club receives a personal membership card.

This card is your official certificate and entitles you to take an active part in all the big things—the things the club will do.

As a member of the club, you will enjoy many surprises that are in store for you. Read the American every day to keep informed of the plans of your club.

UNFOLDING OF THE ROSE

Louis Gazzazi, when merely a child,
Was dutiful, beautiful, quiet and mild;
His saxophone teacher would frequently say,
"You'll hear from Louis Gazzazi some day!"
When Louis Gazzazi was just twenty-one
He bought him a rata-tat-tata-tat gun.
He wholesaled wood alcohol, bourbons and beers,
And bumped off competitive rum racketeers.
The saxophone teacher was certainly right,
Folks do hear from Louis, for night after night
He punctuates atmosphere otherwise calm
With reports from a Cicero pineapple bomb.

Rita S. Haile, in a national survey, finds that boarding school girls believe "promiscuous petting is less common among themselves than among other girls."
This seems rather a snooty attitude to take.

The refining influence of education naturally tends to lift petting above the plane of illiterate vulgarity.
However, a bite in the neck is a bite in the neck.

HOW NEWS COMES TO YOU

Joyce Brothers to Open Ninth Store

On Thursday, Joyce Bros. & Co., Inc., will open a new store at 1297 River st., Hyde Park, near Cleary sq. The company recently celebrated its 40th anniversary as dealers in men's, women's and children's clothing.

The store, the ninth in the Joyce chain, has been opened to meet the demands of customers who live in the district to be served.

This store will be managed by Henry J. Boudreau, a Hyde Park resident, who has for many years been identified with the business.

Here you may see the latest International News Service bulletins being typed by the skilled fingers of some distant operator in New York; up-to-the-minute news flashes gathered from all quarters of the globe by cable, radio and telegraph. The material for this display in the show windows of the Continental Clothing Co. has been provided by the editorial departments of the Boston Evening American and the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

LARGEST EVENING
CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

If the Senate Is Blind Enough to Adopt Root-Hurst Plan, League Court Could Dismiss Our Protest, Then Do as It Pleases

HAVE A CARE, SAMUEL; THAT 'NO' OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE IS EMPHATIC!

What Do Votes of 7,000,000 Americans Amount to Against the $10,000,000,000 of the International Bankers?

Q.—Didn't the Senate in 1926 vote for the United States to enter the League of Nations World Court? A.—It did.

Q.—Why are we not in the Court now? A.—Because the Senate voted to enter, but only with "reservations" and the League members of the Court refused to accept one of those reservations.

Q.—Which one, and what did it provide? A.—Reservation No. 5, which provided that the League's Court should gain our consent before giving an advisory opinion on any question in which we claim an interest.

Q.—What is an advisory opinion of the Court, anyway; is it the same as a decision? A.—No, a decision can be rendered only when a dispute is submitted by both parties involved. An advisory opinion can be rendered by the League's Court even when the United States, for example, thinks the question is none of the Court's business.

Q.—DO you mean to say that if it were not for the fifth reservation we should have joined a foreign court authorized to publish to the world its opinion of our right to the Monroe Doctrine, our Central-American and Mexican policy, our Japanese immigration laws, our foreign debts and the question whether we ought to help in some war over in Europe or Asia, etc., etc.? A.—Certainly. The Court is authorized to give an advisory opinion on any question the League of Nations council submits to it.

Q.—Well, the Senate was pretty smart to insist upon the fifth reservation. Of course, we shall never think of entering the League's World Court without that protection. A.—Oh, yes we will. Elihu Root and Sir Cecil Hurst have just agreed on a scheme for us to join the Court without the fifth reservation and the scheme will be presented to the Senate.

Q.—DO you mean to say that the Root-Hurst plan removes our right of protest against advisory opinions of subjects we think are our own business? A.—Our representative at Geneva will have the right to protest and argue it out with the members of the council of the League of Nations, but if they overrule him, the advisory opinion is to be sought and rendered.

Q.—"Our representative at Geneva — argue it out with the members of the council of the League of Nations"—what's that? I thought Mr. Coolidge, President Hoover and the Republican party platform all said we would have nothing to do with the League. A.—They did.

Q.—Well, doesn't the Root-Hurst plan just about get us into the League? A.—Just about.

Q.—If we protest and an advisory opinion on the Monroe Doctrine, for example, is nevertheless rendered, then what can we do? A.—Get mad, go home and slide down our own cellar door.

Q.—To the jeers of the world deriding us as a quitter and re-echoing the League Court's opinion attacking a vital American interest? A.—Precisely.

Q.—But didn't President Coolidge, in a speech at Kansas City three years ago, say we would never recede from the fifth reservation? A.—He did.

Q.—Has anything happened to make it less necessary than it was in 1926 for the United States to protect itself from being overreached by the League of Nations? A.—Nothing we know of—rather the contrary.

Q.—Then surely the Senate will not reverse itself, President Coolidge and the nation's established foreign policy, and stick the country's head into the League lion's mouth by accepting the Root-Hurst substitute for reservation five? A.—We shall see.

Players at the Copley

The Audiences Hear and Understand Them

If it be true that there are thousands of persons in Greater Boston not yet 30 years of age who have never attended ONE performance of the spoken drama, as Mr. E. E. Clive declared it to be true not long ago, we can think of no better time than the present for them to make a beginning and no better place than that intimate playhouse in Stuart Street over which Clive is the presiding genius.

You will see or hear no trash in the Copley Theater, and no filth. The current offering is a "thriller," a "Scotland Yard mystery" from the pen of that prolific British author who dashes off an article at luncheon, writes a play over night and turns out a novel in the week-end.

The piece at the Copley moves with all the speed to be expected from such a writer. It is worth seeing, well worth seeing, on its own account—as New York and Chicago will agree when the time comes for it to move.

But what we started out to say is that those who are about to make the acquaintance of the spoken drama should go where the drama is spoken CLEARLY AND INTELLIGENTLY.

Don't Gamble

Especially in This Country

England lacks gold, England has much unemployment, England is heavily taxed. But in England those that buy etc' s borrow the money at 5 per cent.

We sent five billions to England in the war, about four billions to France, and scattered other billions around "like drunken sailors," and Americans pay their banks as high as 20 per cent interest, if they want to buy stocks on margin. Serves them right for gambling. Certainly, but in "poor England" money is borrowed for the same purpose at 5 per cent.

High finance manages its business better here. It could teach Shylock something about getting that pound of flesh.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

"THE Bible is a lie. God's a ghost," said Charles Smith.

So they stuck him in jail.

How silly!

Why put a man in jail because he doesn't believe in God and says so?

If he doesn't believe in God, that's his hard luck, not yours or mine—or God's.

It's as silly to jail a man for not believing in God as it would be to punish him for being born with a tail or minus an ear.

The possession of a tail—or the lack of a belief in God—is merely a matter of personal development.

A belief in God is simply part of our enlarged consciousness of Beauty and Truth.

Some of us have acquired that consciousness—some of us haven't!

Some of us see life as a jack rabbit sees it. Some of us see life as Milton or St. Francis or Socrates saw it.

To an Australian aborigine the poems of Browning are mere gibberish. To some of us they are deathless music. But we'd have no right to jail the aborigine because he dismisses "Pippa Passes" with a contemptuous snort.

Give the aborigine time. Like God does. God's not clamoring for recognition. He doesn't become angry because some of his children haven't learned to speak His name.

Hands off the other fellow's soul!

That's a hard lesson for most of us to learn.

Ever since the war stopped and left us with a lot of spare time and an unsatisfied yen for human gore we've been working off energy by snooping around and picking on our neighbors' souls!

But our neighbors' souls are none of our business.

We may have a right to criticize our neighbors' sanitation, but their spiritual salvation is a matter between them and their maker.

Humans believe in God when they get ready for it and not before. And they can't be shoved!

As for the danger of granting free air to atheists—don't worry!

You can't talk a man into believing in God—though you may make him go through the gesture.

And you can't talk him out of it.

The need of God rises in a man when his hour comes, as the spring sap rises in a tree. It is not a matter of reason or exhortation. It is one of the eternal mysteries.

If that were possible, this world would have gone pots long ago.

GOD, FORTUNATELY, IS NOT ACCESSIBLE TO YAPPY TOURISTS!

LET 'EM YAP!

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

FEAR not the great who left earth fair with glory of their deeds; shirk not, but do your lesser share to meet time's changeful needs. Because immortal works were done in matchless melody, great paintings made, rare fabrics spun long centuries gone by, Count not your toil of little worth, though yours are humble tasks, for now as then, of each on earth life still some service asks. And bravely all may face the night who through the day have wrought with faith to use their powers aright, their strength of arm and thought. Fear not the great, for in the end you, too, may pass the test; though crowned with fame the long years lend, they only did their best!

THE HEARST PAPERS DEMAND FOR AMERICA

SCHOOLS—MORE SCHOOLS, BETTER SCHOOLS, more ADEQUATE and more MODERN school buildings; the best TEACHERS and the best COMPENSATION for teachers; a SCHOOL SEAT and a LIBERAL EDUCATION for every child in America, native or foreign born.

America is the great melting pot of the world, and the product of the melting pot must be competent, educated, loyal, moral AMERICAN CITIZENS.

1—That is the nation's duty to itself and its contribution to the social organization.

2—No politics in the schools, no race antagonism in the schools, no religious prejudice in the schools.

The schools are for all children; and all the children should there be taught and trained and graduated in that KNOWLEDGE WHICH IS POWER, and in an enlightened understanding of AMERICAN PRINCIPLES AND IDEALS.

The government of a democracy reposes in the hands of the people, and the success of that government, the progress, the prosperity, the perpetuation of the nation, depend upon the EDUCATION of the people, the ABILITY OF THE PEOPLE TO GOVERN.

Schools are the foundation stones of the republic. Make them STRONG and SOUND and SUFFICIENT.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

I had rather have a fool to make me merry than experience to make me sad. —Shakespeare.

Reforms are less to be dreaded than revolutions, for they cause less reaction. —Darling.

You cannot force the growth of human life and civilization, any more than you can force these slow-moving trees. That is the economy of Almighty God, that all good growth is slow growth. —Gaynor.

I have found out, I repeat, the true secret of happiness, labor with independence.—d'Arblay.

N. Y. Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 24—Few realistic writers or playwrights have caught the drama of the slum tenement in New York. The nearest perhaps was the play, "Street Scene," this season, but even this sacrificed much actual realism for a stagey theatricalism it seemed to think necessary.

Most of the hive-like tenements sweep all chords of emotion in a single day—birth, death, suicide, murder, marriage, robbery and so on. Every day there are moments of high excitement and every night some episode becomes startlingly vivid. And through it all is the hundred-chorus always found among the worthless and a tenuous humility that is sublime.

Mass existence is something that cannot be seen from the sidewalk or elevated train window. It coils deep in the tiny flats that honey comb the glowering buildings where fire escapes are criss-crossed with wet wash and every hallway is a love grot or confessional.

The slum tenement is a city walled in during winter. Only the children, literally sewed in their clothing, and men who must go forth to earn the daily bread, are seen. Women sometimes do not go beyond the front door vestibule until the first chirp of the robin.

New York has done much to uproot its terrible tenements and supplant them with structures that offer livable quarters, but the shabby ramshackle warrens still exist. Headlines frequently bring them to public attention with: "Flames Sweep Like Wildfire Through Tenements."

The tenement is not confined to the lower East Side. There are many on Ninth and Tenth avenues and along the water front, and despite their squalor and wretchedness many remarkably talented men and women have sprung from the dingy depths—like lillies in the bog.

There is no place where the call of misery and woe receives such responsive sympathy as in the slums. The sympathetic have no money or other worldly goods to offer, but of their time and labor they give freely and gladly—to the utmost.

NOTHING is quite so appealing as the engagingly shy "little mother" of the tenement. She takes full responsibility for the welfare of her younger brothers and sisters washes, feeds, clothes and otherwise gives them the attention of a grown mother. As a rule when she approaches womanhood her burdens have become so second nature that she must continue the inglorious life of sacrifice.

SOCIOLOGISTS find girls are not so much affected by slum environment as boys. A big percentage reach womanhood as "good girls," and any number have become leading educators and prominent executives in the business world. The boy often falls 'neath the malign influence of the pool hall or candy store and is a criminal before he is in long trousers.

SIXTH ave. and 42d st. form four of the busiest corners, yet there is difficulty keeping stores rented. Sometimes they are untenanted for months.

AT a Carnegie hall concert the other evening the orchestra leader silenced his music and asked the audience for quiet. There have been times when many of us ached to join the audience in a similar request of the orchestra.
